SENATE SETS ARMY PAY AT $30 A MONTH

DRAFT CRITICS SEE INCREASE AS AID TO VOLUNTEERS

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Taking its first specific action in the present conscription debate, the senate today adopted an amendment to the draft bill raising the basic army pay from $21 to $30 a month.

Critics of conscription repeatedly have urged such an increase, arguing it would speed up enlistments and help provide manpower for the army by the volunteer method, with no need for conscription. However, administration forces also had endorsed the idea, so that the senate's decision was not considered a test on the bill itself.

Cost 70 Million

Offered by Senator Lee (D-Okla), a supporter of conscription the amendment provides that voluntary recruits and draftees in the army and marine corps shall be paid $21 a month during their first four months of training and then, if their rating is satisfactory, their base pay shall be increased to $30. Increases also would be granted to some other classes of enlisted men, and the cost was estimated at $70,000,000 this fiscal year.

In today's debate Senator Clark (D-Mo.) arose to brand as "outrageous" a statement from the army that the original time schedule for calling draftees had to be revised because of the time consumed in the congressional debate on conscription.

Red-faced and indignant, Clark shouted:

"Everybody has known all the time that somebody was going to have to come forth with some excuse for not putting this conscription plan into operation at once.

Crisis Seen Ahead

"Anyone who knows anything about it knows that nothing this administration has done would indicate that they were going to be inept enough to have thousands of mothers going down to the station to kiss their boys good bye a few weeks before the election."

Before the house military committee, secretary of the navy Knox vigorously urged enactment of conscription legislation. He said that if England is defeated the United States, lacking a two-ocean navy, will need a huge and well-trained land force.

The United States faces a "grave crisis," he said, because if England falls, this country would be "left without a friend in the world."

700 PLANES ORDERED

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—The war department announced today the award of a $11,335,631 contract to the North American Aviation, Inc., Englewood, Calif., for approximately 700 airplanes.

Dickinson Adviser

Gov. Luren Dickinson of Michigan said that his "pipe line to God"—his tent meeting style of claiming divine inspiration—induced him to appoint Glenn C. Gillespite (above), former Pontiac, Mich., circuit judge, as his legal adviser. Gillespie succeeds Emerson R. Boyles, now an appointee to the supreme court.

BELGIAN RULER STILL PRISONER

King Leopold's Children With Him At Castle; Refugees Return

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brussells (Via Berlin), Aug. 14—A prisoner of war in his own castle, King Leopold of Belgium has his children with him again—after weeks of separation amid war's tumult—but he still awaits the return of hundreds of thousands of his countrymen who fled to France during Germany's invasion of the lowlands.

About 1,500,000 Belgians were wandering refugees in France when the armistice was signed. They have been returning only gradually to their homes.

Even before the conclusion of the battle of France, Leopold did what he could to speed repatriation of Belgian refugees. He asked the president of Switzerland June 13 to negotiate with French and German authorities for the return of Belgians across Swiss frontiers. Last month he won the Red Cross cooperation.

The king's three children, Princess Charlotte, 13; Crown Prince Baudouin, 11, and Prince Albert, 7, were detained for a while in France — apparently against the wishes of their father, who had given instructions to send them to Portugal. Germany military authorities intervened to speed the children's homecoming recently.

Also with the king now are his mother, the Dowager Queen Elizabeth, and his brother, Prince Charles. They are living in Laeken Castle, near here, the usual residence of the royal family.

Serve Nation Best By Staying In The School, Youth Told

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt told the nation's youth today they would serve their country better by staying in school and continuing their education than by going to work in a defense industry or enlisting in the armed forces.

The president's view were made public in a letter to Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, replying to a memorandum in which McNutt had reported that universities faced a serious problem because young people were dropping out for "patriotic" reasons.

Meanwhile Aubrey Williams, national youth administrator, instructed state youth administrators to increase the employment of out-of-school youths on resident projects.

Industrial Plants Of State Checked For Fifth Columns

Lansing, Aug. 14 (AP)—A survey of Michigan industrial plants is being made by state police detectives in cooperation with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Lieut. Harold Mulbar, head of "fifth column" investigation for the state police, said the survey dealt with all factors of plant management, including personnel, plant capacities, physical lay-out for protection against sabotage and spying in the event defense material were produced in such plants, and similar factors.

Floods Spread Death In 4 Southern States

Asheville, N. C., Aug. Aug. 14 (AP)—Rampaging rivers wrought death and destruction today in four southern states.

Abnormally heavy rainfall in the wake of a hurricane that battered the South Carolina-Georgia coast Sunday sent the swift streams swirling out of their banks washing out highways and bridges, destroying lowland crops and causing millions of dollars damage to industrial plants along their banks, and driving hundreds of persons from their lives.

At least 16 deaths were attributed to the floods.

North Carolina counted two drownings and four deaths in landslides. Three drownings were reported near Galax, Va., three near Elizabethton, Tenn., and three near Augusta, Ga. A negro woman near Augusta died of a heart attack when she learned the flood water were approaching her home.

A 100-foot washout of Asheville's principal water main forced this tourists' meca of 51,000 to use sparingly water from a single reservoir. Officials expressed confidence that the line could be repaired by tomorrow.

North Wilkesboro, industrial mountain town of 4,000 about 125 miles northeast, apparently was the hardest hit.

The flooded Yadkin river, which rose to record heights, swept over streets and damaged 14 industrial plants. Two burned as the water rose about them. The town, isolated, was without water, light or telephone facilities.

Property damage there was estimated at $2,000,000 and Mayor R. P. McNeil said for Wilkes county as a whole it probably would reach $10,000,000. He said 500 were homeless and 2,500 out of work. Police chief John Walker expressed fear many had drowned before they could be warned of the rapidly rising waters. The city called on the Red Cross, meanwhile giving food and shelter to the needy. The water was fast receding tonight.

Landslides blocked highways all over the mountain area. Two persons were crushed to death in two slides near Boone.

Witnesses said the raging torrents in some places picked up buildings and tossed them about like matchboxes in a gutter. Hundreds of bridges were swept away.

Galax, in the southwest corner of Virginia, was isolated last night, and about 700 were reported to have fled their homes. Water rose to the second story of many houses.

The Watauga river engulfed a residential district of Elizabethton where 200 to 300 persons lived, forcing them to clamber to nearby hills, rooftops and tall trees for refuge. Deputy Mike Boatwright said, "from what I have seen and heard, I am convinced that 15 or 20 persons were drowned."

CUDAHY IS NOT HANDED REBUKE

Statements On Belgium Earn No Reprimand for Ambassador

BY J. C. STARK

Washington, Aug. 14, (AP)—Ambassador John Cudahy gained vindication from both President Roosevelt and the state department tonight in a controversy over an unauthorized press interview he gave in London concerning conditions in Belgium.

After a long talk with the president, Cudahy, ambassador to Belgium, said he had been authorized to say "that I received no rebuke and none was intended."

Later he spent an hour with Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, who had previously asserted that the envoy violated "standing instructions" of the state department.

After this meeting, Cudahy left the talking to Welles except to say the discussion had been very satisfactory and he had made a full report on conditions in Belgium.

Welles then announced that no rebuke had been administered, that Cudahy would take a vacation and that the incident was closed so far as the state department was concerned.

The acting secretary said Cudahy had told him some press reports on his London interview had misquoted him in many important particulars.

Chrysler To Build Tanks For Army

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Defense commission officials said today that negotiations with the Chrysler Corporation of Detroit for hundreds of army tanks are virtually completed.

Construction of a $16,000,000 government-financed factory has been discussed, according to persons familiar with the negotiations. About a year would be required to build the plant and tool it for a daily output of five tanks.

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Until all arguments have been heard on compulsory military training legislation in the senate, Senator Brown (D-Mich) said today that he would withhold his decision.

CONTRACTS LET FOR WARPLANES

Flier Training Speeded; Destroyers Ahead of Schedule

Washington, Aug. 14, (AP)—Difficulties which have delayed the signing of contracts for 4,200 army warplanes were reported virtually sumounted today, while in another field of national defense—the navy—Secretary Knox announced that four new destroyers were being completed ahead of schedule.

Knox also revealed plans to increase sevreal-fold the present facilities for primary training of naval fliers. Besides creating new naval reserve aviation bases at New Orleans, Dallas and Atlanta, Knox said, facilities will be expanded at 13 existing reserve bases.

Each of the bases will have a capacity of 100 fledgling fliers, he said, compared with the present average of 15 to 20.

Earlier in the day, William S. Knudsen, defense commissioner, had submitted a memorandum to congress saying that an army of 2,000,000 could be put in the field fully equipped by Oct. 1, 1943. He added that the existing army program, calling for complete equipment for 1,200,000 men and the procurement of critical non-commercial items for 800,000, would be completed by the end of 1942. Knudsen submitted his memo in response to inquiries.

Campaign Planned On Swimmers' Itch

Lansing, Aug. 14 (AP)—The State Steam Control commission and other interested departments have scheduled for August 23 a round table discussion of plans for combatting "swimmers itch" next summer in Michigan resort waters.

The commission, the spokesman said, will ask $20,000 in next year's budget to fight the disease. He added that the conservation department had earmarked $2,500 for control measures in state parks.

BASES STRENGTHENED

Ottawa, Aug. 14 (AP) — Newfoundland's strategic land and sea airplane bases at Gander Lake and Botwood, guarded by Canadian troops since early in the war, will be strengthened soon by expenditures of nearly $1,000,000, the air ministry announced tonight.

WAR IS TAKEN INTO ITALY BY GREAT BRITAIN

LONG-RANGE PLANES ATTACK TURIN AND MILAN

(By The Associated Press)

Rome, Aug. 14—Squadrons of long-range British bombers thundered over the Alps and down on the great industrial cities of northern Italy today, killing 22 persons, injuring more than fifty and stirring the rage of Fascists at what they called "a barbarous and cowardly attack."

The Italians said the British bombers crossed neutral Switzerland and scattered explosives and propaganda leaflets at random in the residential districts of Milan, Turin, Tortona and Allesandria. The leaflets told Italians to wake up to their use as vassals "by your hereditary enemy, Germany," to "make Hitler stronger."

Factories Set Afire

Authorities insisted there was no military damage (but British accounts said the Caproni factory in Milan and the Fiat plant in Turin, two of Italy's principal plane works, were "smashed" and set afire; that the blaze from the Caproni plant could be seen for miles.)

The heaviest attack was at Milan, where a dozen persons were killed and 44 injured by 30 explosive and incendiary bombs.

Still another British raid was carried out over Augusta, naval base in Sicily. Naval anti-aircraft was said to have shot down a British torpedo plane.

The surprise attacks on the larger cities, first since early in the war, brought home to the inhabitants their danger even from Britain, which most of them had considered harmlessly far away.

May Claim Corfu

Italian newspapers kept the new controversy with Greece over the "oppression" of Albanian minorities at fever heat.

Il Popolo Di Roma even hinted that Italy might claim the Greek Island of Corfu and the whole Adriatic coast as a sequel to the hatchet slaying of Daut Hoggia, Albanian "patriot," allegedly committed by two Greeks.

Virginio Gayda, in the newspaper Giornale d' Italia, acused the British of plotting the killing of Hoggia and said the Greeks were

Labor Union Says Highway Department Sold Ferry Jobs At From $25 to $200

Lansing, Aug. 14 (AP)—A labor union charged the state highway department today with having forced officers of the state ferries at the Straits of Mackinac to pay from $25 to $200 for their jobs.

The charge was made by James H. Blake an official of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association-AFL, in complaining to the state labor mediation board that the highway department had failed to agree to a labor contract in nearly a year of negotiations.

The board ordered a hearing here August 23 on the charge.

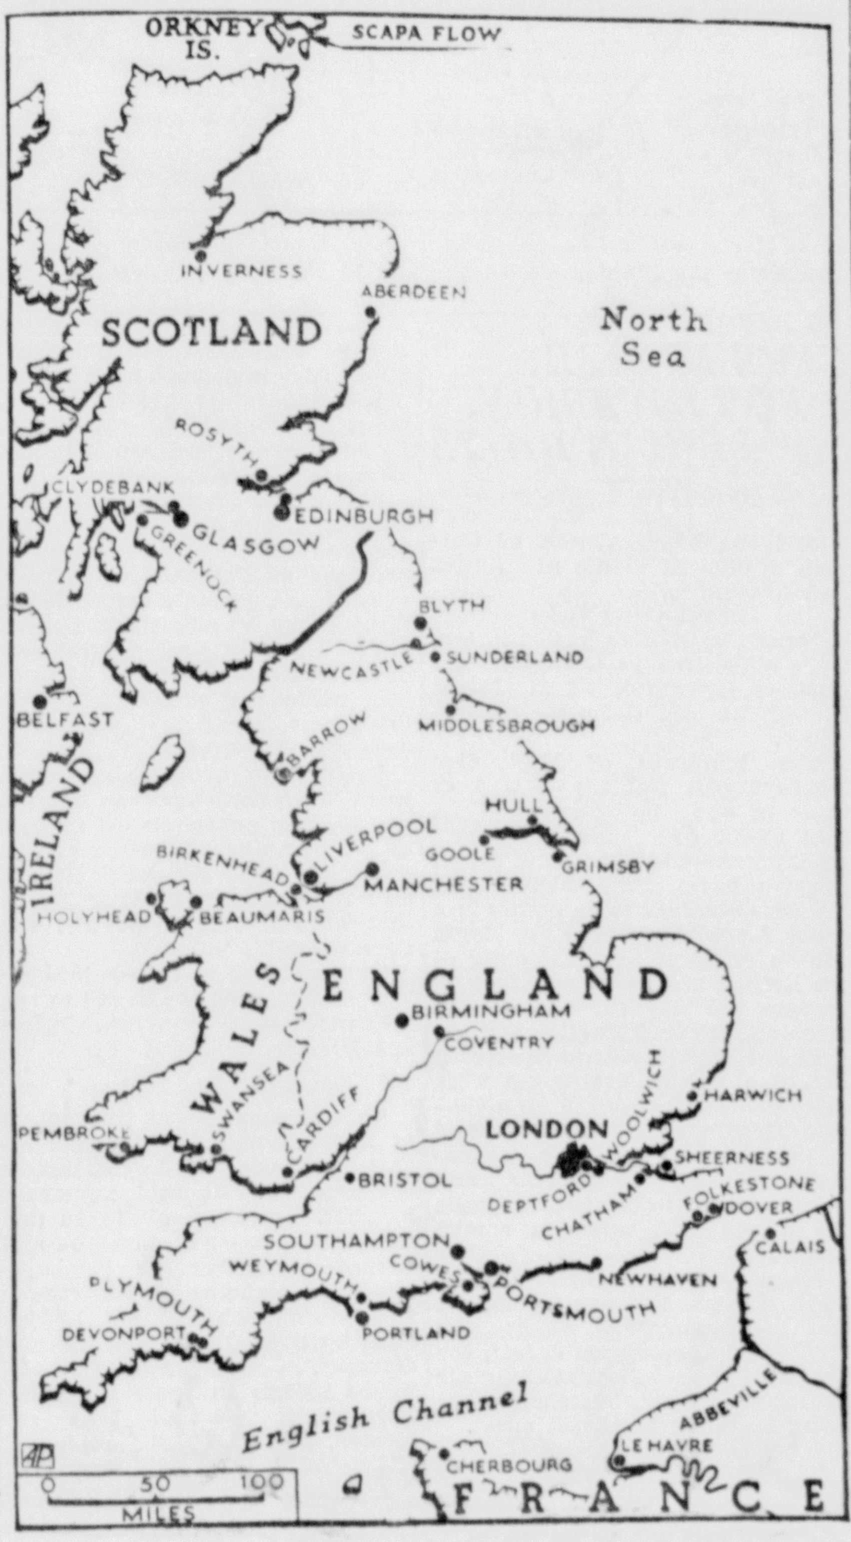
Blake wrote the board "it is a well known fact" that ferry officers were required to contribute from $25 to $200 to retain their jobs. He also asserted ferry wages were inequitable.

The union asks reinstatement of Ivo Coveyou, former chief engineer, of the Ferry City of Munising, who was dismissed last September on a charge of maintaining ferry machinery in a dangerous state of disrepair. The union claimed the Federal Marine Inspection Service held Coveyou to be negligent but later declined to try him on the grounds the condition was not his fault.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner and a Democratic primary candidate for governor, denied ferry employes ever had been required to make campaign contributions and said "I have always been willing to discuss labor problems with any union and I always will. My record as state highway commissioner is proof of this statement."

Van Wagoner said Coveyou had been dismissed "by orders" of the U. S. Steamboat Inspectors.

Target for Blitzkrieg



A rip-tide of Nazi aerial might thundering across the staunchly defended coasts of England indicated that the German army was ready to strike at the "tight little island" that has successfully resisted all invasion since the year 1066. Towns on the southeast and southwest coasts bore the brunt of the aerial attack.

Vandenberg Launches His Senate Campaign

Lansing, Aug. 14 (AP)—U. S. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) formally launched his campaign for renomination tonight with an appeal to voters to flock to Republican standards in the interests of national defense—defense not only against foreign attack, but against "self-perpetuating presidents" and "national bankruptcy."

His plea was contained in an address at a dinner sponsored by the Republican Service Men's League of Michigan. The talk wound up a one-day Michigan stumping tour that included an appearance at the Ionia Free Fair this afternoon.

Discussions of defense against a possible foreign foe, Vandenberg said, "must rise wholly above politics" but the other issues, he added, "can be settled nowhere else except in the political forum."

"It is super-politics," he declared, "to attempt to ban politics * * * to argue that the (war) emergency robs us of the right to free speech and free discussion. * * * It would be absurd to defend against the encroachments of dictatorship from abroad and to ignore its sinister germs at home."

The senator's reference was to what he called the "menace of a totalitarian third-term presidency which would violate every Republican tradition of our American democracy."

While Vandenberg said he hated "every principle of conquest and every precept of dictatorship which blacken so much of the world's sky," he warned against intervention in "the power politics of the old world" and assailed peace-time conscription as a step toward "total regimentation" not alone of men but of money and industry.

"It is wholly clear that the subjugation of the British Empire would seriously intensify our own sense of jeopardy," the senator told his audience, "and hence our defense problem. Therefore it is wholly logical that our facilities should be particularly available to England at the moment."

But aid to Britain, he insisted, should be strictly limited by "our international engagements, our own avowed purpose to keep out of war abroad and our own defense necessities."

Regarding peace-time conscription, which he said "would tear up 150 years of American history and tradition," Vandenberg asserted:

"I will consent to that step if

FORMER CUNARD LINER IS SUNK

German Submarine Gets Transylvania Out On Atlantic

London, Aug. 15 (Thursday) (AP)—The 16,923-ton armed merchant cruiser Transylvania—once a popular West Indies cruise ship running out of New York—has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine somewhere in the Atlantic.

The British government had taken her over from the Cunard Anchor Line.

The Transylvania was the seventh largest liner to be sunk during the war.

Between thirty and forty sailors were believed lost due to lifeboats capsizing in choppy seas.

More than 300 officers and men were saved and landed at a west coast port.

Most of the rescue work was done by ships that picked up distress signals and dashed to the stricken liner.

TIME IS RIPE FOR INVASION, BERLIN HINTS

ENGLISH AIR FORCE POUNDS FRENCH COASTAL AREA

By The Associated Press

London, Aug. 15 (Thursday)—New flights of German warplanes were heard over northern England and Scotland today, while in the south the British air force launched its own pre-dawn blows at 100 miles of the German-held coast of France.

The British bombed objectives between Calais and Le Havre for at least an hour without letup, starting fires that could be seen across the English Channel. The distant shriek of air raid sirens and the muffled thud of bombs told of the force of the attack.

There were no reports of bombings immediately in northwestern England and north and south Scotland where German planes were heard overhead. British said the intensity of the Nazi night attacks apparently had fallen off.

Midlands Alert

Yesterday's big blows were aimed at the vital south coast cities — Southampton, Dover and Hastings—while German vessels moved stealthily about the English Channel in what might be preparations for an attempt to ferry an invading army to British shores.

The government put the whole country on the watch against German parachutists, after 11 German airmen were reported captured in the midlands.

The German warplanes struck in serried waves, dropping bombs over the southeast and southern coasts, in the southwest, the midlands and even in Wales. But the channel ports again were hardest hit.

Tonight, the air ministry announced that in a day of attack and counter-attack in the skies 26 German planes had gone down in flames and four British fighting craft had been lost.

Sabotage Feared

At Dover the Nazis blasted away at British barrage balloons, set up to protect the coast; at Southampton they poured down high-explosive bombs, at least one of which damaged a standing train; at Hastings "several" fatalities were reported.

The government's action against the menace of the parachutists—a ghostly form of attack which worked so well in Holland and Belgium, in France and Poland—was taken at about the same time that 17 abandoned German parachutes were found in villages of the industrial midlands—an area where sabotage would gravely hurt.

Other such discoveries had been reported earlier from two areas in England and one in Scotland.

The royal air force, desperately fighting off the German attacks here at home, likewise reported new and damaging blows at aircraft factories in four axis cities—at Dessau and Bernburg in Germany; at Turin and Milan in Italy

TROTTING JINX ENDS FOR EGAN

Lexington Vet Scores Straight Heat Win In Hambletonian

BY ORLO ROBERTSON

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—The hard luck man of trotting finally broke his jinx today.

After finishing in the money in 10 of 12 Hambletonians, barely missing out on two of them, Fred Egan, Lexington veteran, drove C. W. Phellis' Spencer Scott of Greenwich, Conn., to a straight-heat victory in trotting's most famous stake.

With about 30,000 packing Good Time park, the son of Scotland reeled off the first mile in 2:02 and the second in 2:03 to justify his position as the people's choice. He won like a champion, taking the lead soon after the start in each brush and setting the pace all the way.

Egan was forced to go to the whip both times to finish in front of the fast-closing Remus, and Kuno, champion juvenile of 1939. Remus, owned by Paul Bowser of Boston, Bill Dickerson of Goshen and his trainer-driver, Harry Short of Columbus, Ohio, trailed by a half-length in the first heat and a full length in the second.

The crowd played Spencer heavily in the first heat, and backed him still more in the second test and in the result pool. He paid only $3.40 for $2 in the result pool and $3.30 in winning the second mile after returning $5.10, $5.40 and $4.20 across the board in the opening dash.

Phellis, retired chemist and one of the country's foremost trap shooters, received $23,077.15, the winner's share of the richest Hambletonian in eight years. The value of the race was $43,658.45.

Remus' three owners split $8,391.69 and Bostwick pocketed $5,035.01 for Kuno's performance.

Vandenberg Opens Senate Campaign

and when it is necessary. I shall not do so at first, instead of a last, resort."

The senator devoted a major portion of his address to praise of his party's presidential candidate, Wendell L. Willkie, as a standard-bearer whose background in the business world would enable him to "restore confidence in the future of private enterprise" and build up the national income to a point where tax revenues again would equal the costs of government.

BY G. MILTON KELLY

Ionia, Mich., Aug. 14 (AP)—Governor Dickinson gave a glad hand to a batch of his rivals for the Republican nomination for governor, and called Murray D. Van Wagoner, Democratic gubernatorial aspirant, his "friend" at an Ionia Free Fair gathering here today.

The fair drew flocks of politicians for the annual Governor's Day observance, with the double attractions of Dickinson and his rivals, and U. S. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, who said he was making a one-day campaign for renomination on the Republican ticket.

In brief addresses at a luncheon gathering and to the assembled thousands at the fair grounds, Vandenberg told of his "America for Americans" policies.

"We must think of America first and always," he told the crowd, as he stood in the fair grounds dirt track. "We must prepare a strictly invincible national defense.

"But America, if she is sensible, can stay at peace. I believe she will stay at peace and preserve her democracy right here under the Stars and Stripes."

"Picked Right Guy"

The senator, who was Michigan's favorite son for the Republican presidential nomination at the national convention, spoke with wry humor of his own pre-convention prediction that he would win the nomination on the sixth ballot, and pledged allegiance to Wendell L. Willkie, the victor.

"I picked the right ballot but the wrong guy," he declared, "but the convention got the right guy. As Willkie caught the imagination of the convention, he is about to capture the imagination of the voters."

He praised the American system of government, asserting the end of the campaign would find Democrats and Republicans settling party differences to "be Americans, praying for the life and peace of our country."

Dickinson introduced his gubernatorial rivals to the luncheon gathering with a dry humor. He told the group he was "inclined to think the state would not suffer" if O. L. Smith, Detroit candidate, were elected. He praised M. B. McPherson, chairman of the state tax commission, another candidate, as a fellow who recently served him a good chicken dinner at a public meeting in Lowell; candidate Ernest T. Conlon of Grand Rapids as a "friend of senate days;" candidate Miller Dunckel Dunckel, state treasurer, as a young man who has done a good job; and candidate Thomas Read, attorney general, as a man who "has given the state a big surprise in the way he has taken hold."

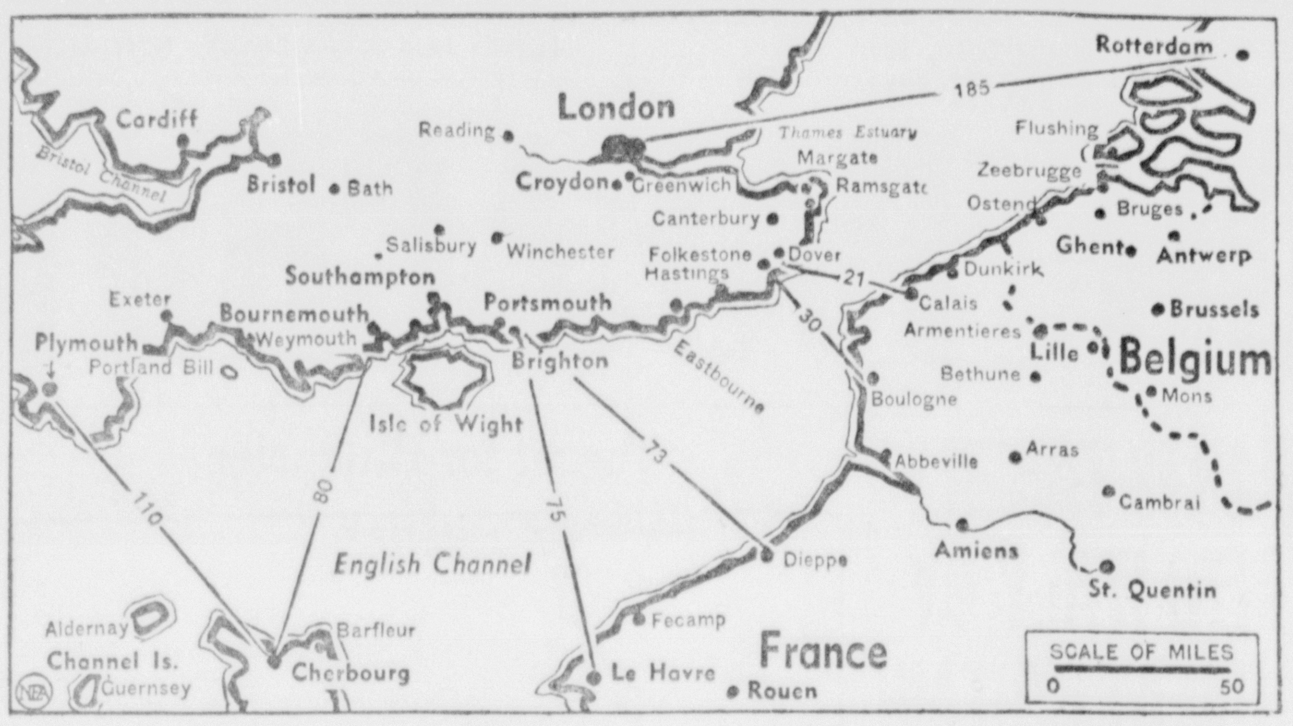
Where Germans Concentrate Bomb Attacks



A closeup of Channel area where Germans continue mass air raids as prelude to expected invasion of British Isles. Nearly all English towns shown have been heavily bombed.

—and the bombardment of German munitions plants at Lunen and Grevenbroich.

Naval Units Help

Struck by British bombers, too, were objectives in Germany's industrial Ruhr and 14 airdromes in German and German-held territory.

The hundreds of Nazi dive bombers and fighters — 300 of them in one thunderous flight that swept over the southeast coast alone—did not attack alone. German naval units, believed by British observers to be acting in a general effort to sweep the North Sea and English Channel clear of the British mine belt and thus to prepare the way for a sea-borne invasion, prowled English waters.

In one engagement in the North Sea, two British destroyers were reported to have broken up a German flotilla of six trawlers and three torpedo-carrying speedboats, sending one trawler and one speedboat to the bottom while the others fled under a smoke screen.

Many observers believe that, when the great attack comes, it will be sprung not along the southern and southeast coasts, the scenes of the greatest running air battles of history, but somewhere along Britain's northeast coast.

Handy To Industries

A landing there would be handy to Britain's industrial "black belt," and would give the Nazis scope for a western offensive which, if completed, would cut the island defenses in two.

It was the fourth successive day of almost ceaseless air raids—raids which kept the skies full of clamor—and as before the south and southeast coasts were the Nazis' especial targets.

In a single 90-minute battle, 80 German bombers broke through the coastal defenses, under the protective wings of a cloud of fighter planes, to drop bombs inland.

In another screeching engagement, a total of 150 planes—attackers and defenders — tossed angrily in the low and scudding clouds.

(The Germans unofficially claimed to have shot down 22 British planes by this afternoon and acknowledged the loss of five of their own.)

(By The Associated Press)

Berlin, Aug. 14—Germany's mighty air force carried a tempest of fire and metal across the channel into England's exposed southern flank for the fourth successive day of big aerial assault today and returning bombers described masses of floating wreckage of planes and balloons shot down off Dover—a possible sign of conditions ripe for invasion.

Biggest battles of the day were reported off this southeastern "hot" corner nearest the continent, where Germans said British fighters persisted in making futile attempts to stop the torrents of German bombers, dive bombers and battle planes and lost 22 of their Hurricanes and Spitfires to the Germans' five.

This brought Britain's total of destroyed planes, according to German bookkeeping, to 385 for the five big days beginning last Thursday. This was at a cost of 88 German planes, the Germans reckoned.

Dancing Banned

As if these body blows were a prelude to a land and sea invasion, the government today ordered a ban on public dancing, as it did during the Polish campaign and the offensive in western Europe. Recently dancing has been permited two night a week.

Despite the desperate British opposition, the Germans said, their bombers shrieked down on their objectives, hitting airports and wharves with mine-like explosives which left towering fires in their wake.

Approximately a score of Britain's vaunted barrage balloons were sent flaming into the sea and to the ground in a tangle of twisted cables, the Germans declared, while small boats were engaged off shore in attempts to rescue luckless pilots whose mounts were sent in streaking flame from the sky.

Berlin Hears Sirens

German bombers started their work in the early hours of the morning from numerous bases in Germany, The Netherlands and Belgium, taking advantage of thick clouds over the channel, to slip over the British coastline for raids far inland.

(British dispatches said the longest and severest raid of the war on the important industrial midlands was carried out.)

But apparently the clouds hid swarms of British planes too, judging by subsequent German accounts of ensuing battles.

Berlin had its third air raid warning of the war, and informed sources admitted British raiders had reached Potsdam, 20 miles west of the capital, before being turned back by anti-aircraft guns.

The warning sent Berlin residents to their cellars for 47 minutes while the sound of distant firing was heard, but no bombs were reported dropped.

Destruction of British aircraft yesterday, which Germans totalled at 132, was accomplished in part by the bombing and firing of two score on the ground at British airports before they ever had a chance to get into the air, the Germans said.

They pointed to this as indicating an approaching parallel to the blitzkrieg that paralyzed Polish and French air fleets.

Damage "Tremendous"

German smashes at the centers of British air resistance was reported in the high command's communique. It said numerous hangars, barracks, oil tanks and equipment were blasted and burned yesterday in bombardments of airfields at Eastchurch and Detling, where the British back up their Dover and Thames defenses, at Andover and Odiham, where planes to protect the big Portsmouth naval base are massed, and at Farnborough and Middlewallop in south England.

Besides, armament plants at Exeter and Plymouth, and wharves at Walsend, Bournemouth and Plymouth on the south, and Hartlepool on the east were hit, the communique said.

Informed sources described the damage in these, "the most successful raids" yet against England, as "tremendous."

The high command also said a submarine chaser patrol had encountered a destroyer flotilla in the fog-shrouded North Sea and put it to flight after a "skirmish," while German submarines continued their cruises "unhampered." One submarine returned with a report of the sinking of 41,611 tons of shipping, including an auxiliary cruiser.

(The British said two destroyers chased six armed German trawlers and three torpedo boats behind a smoke screen, and that three of the boats were hit and two of them believed sunk.)

Germans preferred to leave the British guessing as to whether a few trial shells had been sent across the channel from big guns emplaced on the French shore.

Straits Bridge Bill Stirs New Dispute

Washington, Aug. 14, (AP)—Representative Dondero (R-Mich) said tonight he would object to appointment of a house conference committee on a bill (S1379) granting congressional consent for construction of a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac in Michigan.

The senate disagreed with a house amendment and asked for appointment of a conference committee.

Under the original bill the Mackinac Straits Bridge Authority would be authorized to construct the bridge, but the house amendment granted the consent to the state itself.

Dondero said he would object to the original language because it would permit issuance of bonds to finance the bridge construction without a "vote of the people."

Hartman Proposes $86,000,000 Budget For Next 2 Years

Lansing, Aug. 14 (AP)—State budget director Gus T. Hartman said today he planned a state budget of about $86,000,000 annually for the next two years. The 1939-40 appropriation for general purposes was approximately $84,000,000.

Hartman said he planned to draft the budget for submission to the legislature on the theory that $2,000,000 more state revenues will be available annually in the next two days than was appropriated in the current biennium.

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown has reported that revenues last year exceeded expectations by more than $7,000,000.

The budget director said his proposed budget did not take into account the extra $2,000,000 the legislature set aside for the schools.

"If that's done again," he said, "I'll have to figure on $88,000,000."

The (Life Savers) Candy manufacturer recalled that during his two years of government service the President had charged him with organization of the civil aeronautics authority and "the revitalization of the department of commerce."

McCoy Maneuvers Show Streamlined Army's Flexibility

Camp McCoy, Wis., Aug. 14, (AP)—Flexibility of the new streamlined fifth army division was demonstrated today to more than 2,000 officers as the second army maneuvers got under way.

Three columns of imaginary invaders were turned back along a four-mile front deep in the Wisconsin woods as 75 mm. and 155 mm. howitzers, camouflaged with jack pine bows, blasted away at moving targets, representing tanks.

Brig. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredenhall, commander of the Fifth Division, told the officers that a reconnaissance troop would be added to the streamlined unit. It will consist of 105 enlisted men, five officers, 20 scout cars armed with heavy and light machine guns, and 12 motorcycles with lighter guns mounted on the handlebars.

The 32nd Division, from Wisconsin and Michigan, worked on advance attack and defense formations.

Hungary Doubtful Of Rumanian Deal

Budapest, Aug. 14 (AP)—A Hungarian delegation left for Turnu-severin, Rumania, tonight to begin formal negotiations this week-end with King Carol's representatives over Hungary's claims for the return of the rich Transylvanian province.

Pessimism was apparent in Hungarian quarters. Diplomatic sources expressed belief the conference was destined to fail and would be followed by German arbitration.

WAR IS TAKEN INTO ITALY BY GREAT BRITAIN

"vassals" in a "vast plot" against Albania, Italy and the whole "Balkan order."

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 14.—British warships have turned their guns on the coast of their own protectorate of Somaliland to hold up Italians advancing there against the key port of Berbera, British bastion on the south shore of the Gulf of Aden.

Armored columns and troop concentrations were scattered by salvoes from light naval units offshore, British military headquarters reported, and the Fascist offensive was declared to have been stopped well before Bulhar, which is about 40 miles west of Berbera.

(A dispatch to Il Giornale D'Italia, an authoritative Fascist organ in Rome, reported the British fleet at Aden, the Arabian port across the Gulf from Berbera, had left there, adding to the already "intense movement" in the Gulf.

(This news suggested an intensification of British fleet action against the Italians, whose drive against Berbera is to attempt to break British empire communications through the Red Sea, coincident with an expected general assault on Egypt and the Suez Canal.)

British ground forces reported other successes in the defense of Berbera, declaring that Italian forces had been thrown back at Jurgargan Pass, 35 miles south-southeast of Berbera. They also said they had defeated Fascist columns in skirmishes both in Italian Libya and in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

In the Libyan engagement, it was declared that British troops had penetrated 35 miles into that Italian area, putting an Italian patrol to flight.

Artillery Balked By Indian Woman Near Camp McCoy

Camp McCoy, Wis., Aug. 14, (AP)—The 2nd army ran into Indian trouble in the Wisconsin woods today—but soon made peace without resort to force.

Mrs. Ethel Kinney, a Winnebago Indian woman, refused to move from her farm in the heart of the camp artillery range.

Officers set up a new army tent a few miles away, built a stone fireplace, and told her, "it's yours."

She consented after the officers agreed to move her goods in two army trucks.

Jenkins Prepares To Punch Manager Caplin On Button

Sweetwater, Tex., Aug. 14 (AP)—Cowhand Lew Jenkins, tired of all "that goofy New York talk," turned from the bedside of his gravely ill mother today and promised to punch manager Hymie Caplin in the nose "the next time I see him."

The lightweight champion hurried here by motor to be with his mother after cancelling the Aug. 19 bout with Bob Montgomery at Philadelphia.

The threat of suspension in Pennsylvania rings, telegraphed him by Leon Rains, chairman of the Pennsylvania boxing commission, unless he went through with the Montgomery bout, caused Jenkins to explode.

He blamed Caplin, his manager.

"Sure, I'll punch him in the nose. I believe I have a right to say that. Caplin didn't want me to come home—he didn't believe my mother was critically ill. My mother means more to me than all the fights and money in the world."

Jenkins complained that Caplin took him to "a country club" to train for his recent fight in which he went down before Henry Armstrong.

"But it was a resort and no place to train. Caplin didn't want any of my friends around the place. But his stooges from New York were simply overrunning the place. They nearly ran me nuts.

"They hung around watching me work out and kept asking me questions in that goofy New York talk.'

He denied that his wife, Katie, had caused him to break training and said "Caplin just doesn't like her." To chairman Rains' threat to have him suspended in Pennsylvania and "other states," Jenkins telegraphed this reply:

"I'm not trying to dodge Montgomery. I explained to the promoter before I left. I will be glad to go through with the fight at a later date, when I have had time to get in condition. Not now. My mother is very sick. She is expected to die.

(Signed) Lew Jenkins,
Sweetwater, Texas."

No Pitching Yet For Monte Pearson

Baltimore, Aug. 14 (AP)—Monte Pearson, pitcher for the New York Yankees, will leave Union Memorial hospital tomorrow, his sore arm and shoulder "much better," but still not ready for pitching.

As to when he will be ready to go on the mound again, his physician, Dr. Sydney R. Miller, would make no prediction.

Pearson, who entered the hospital ten days ago, strained his arm early in July and continued pitching, Dr. Miller said. Making his condition more serious and necessitating treatment.

Rules Are Decided For Giants-Allstar Battle On Sept. 4

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Playing rules for the game between the New York professional football Gaints and the eastern-college All-Stars in the Polo Grounds September 4 were decided today at a meeting of coaches.

At the same time, officials announced that the All-Star squad was completed with acceptance by Tommy Nash, Brown university end, of an invitation to play.

The game will be played under college rules, with three exceptions. They are:

1—The goal posts will be on the goal line, as in the pro game.

2—If a player falls without being hit, he may get up and continue to run; if he is knocked down through impact of a defensive player, he is "downed" on the spot.

3—Players may communicate with teammates as in pro football

Youngest "recruit" is little Penelope, seen in foreground beside her mother, Mrs. Juanita Schlesinger.

PLAN SEWAGE PLANT

Ironwood—In an effort to satisfy state officials and to open up a city-wide WPA sewer project here, the city commissioners adopted a resolution last night asking an engineering firm to revamp its plans for a sewage disposal plant to provide an estimate for the construction of a primary treatment plant only, such sums as necessary to be included in the budget starting next year for the completion of the project by or before 1946.

State officials who visited here recently said a primary treatment plant for sewage, which may be used later as a part of the sewage disposal plant in the event it is deemed advisable to complete such a unit, would meet the requirements of the state health department and the stream control commission. The estimated cost of a primary plant is $100,000 to $125,000 with the city bearing one quarter of the total.

GOING TO ELWOOD

Marquette — Many Marquette county Republicans will join the Michigan caravan to Elwood, Ind., Saturday to hear the formal speech of acceptance of Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee for president.

The "Willkie Trek" gives promise of being the greatest mass political migration in the history of Michigan.

Bert Agnoli, of Negaunee, Marquette county GOP chairman, said yesterday he was organizing a group of party members to drive to Elwood for the ceremony and it appears certain that at least three auto-loads would go from this county, he stated.

FACES LARCENY CHARGE

Marquette—Amos G. Baker, grading contractor on a US-2 road job near Engadine, will be arraigned on a charge of larceny in Marquette municipal court before Judge John Siegel Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

He was arrested by state police of the Newberry post last Friday on a warrant from Marquette county and brought to Marquette by Sheriff Howard C. Treado Saturday to be confined in the county jail. Baker was released upon furnishing bond of $500. He demanded an examination in city court.

According to officers of the county sheriff's department, Baker is alleged to have taken steam shovel parts from a shovel used on the US-2 road job.

1500 MILES IN CANOE

Marquette — Anything for a thill, that's an oft-heard phrase which sets one's mind to wandering, but here is a tale about Great Lakes adventure that will strike the fancy of anyone who has ever had a yen for sailing the bounding main.

Last year, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bertsche, who live and teach school at Montclair, N. J., thought they'd like to see the Great Lakes. So, Frank built a 12-foot canvas-covered canoe, 22 inches wide, and after equipping it with two double paddles, 28 square feet of sail and a 21-pound 2 1-2 horsepower outboard motor, the Bertsches struck out from Oswego, N. Y.

It was adventure of the first order and they relished it as they skirted the shores of Lake Ontario, followed the old Champlain route from Lake Ontario to Lake Huron on what is now called the Trent waterway system and then headed for Manitoulin island on the north shore of Lake Huron.

NAMED HEALTH DIRECTOR

Iron River—Dr. Lorin E. Kerr, of Mason, yesterday was approved by the state health department as director of the Iron county health unit in the absence of Dr. T. E. Camper, who will leave in September for the University of Michigan to obtain his master's degree in public health.

State health authorities advised Dr. Camper of Dr. Kerr's selection. The latter, assistant director in Ingham county, will start work here on October 1, and will remain about nine months.

Dr. Camper will leave on vacation before he enrolls at the state university, to which he received a scholarship. In the event of emergency during September, the health director of Ontonagon will come here.

AIRPORT JOB BEING PLANNED

Program Tentative, But Would Improve Runways, Lighting

Plans are being drawn for extensive improvements at the Escanaba airport which might be put through in connection with the government's rearmament program.

The program would provide extension of present east and west and north and south runways from approximately half a mile to 4,000 feet and add a third one to run northeast and southwest the same distance.

All the runways would be widened from the present 300 to 350 feet and a blacktop surface probably 100 feet wide would be run down their centers.

Also hoped for and being investigated is a lighting system for the field, to include boundary and approach lights and floodlights. Hugo Lillquist, superintendent of the city electrical department, is working on these plans.

A representative from the Civil Aeronautics authority, Chicago, is expected here soon to go over plans, which include also the cutting of trees on city property to the west of the field. Walter Arntzen, airport superintendent and a city architect and engineer, is drawing up the preliminary program.

If the Aeronautics authority cooperates the project would cost the city very little as a WPA job.

REV. EDGREN DIES

Norway—Injuries which he suffered in an automobile accident, July 25, near Willmar, Minn., proved fatal for the Rev. L. G. Edgren, aged 84, who died at 10 o'clock Saturday night in the Penn hospital. A retired Swedish Methodist minister, the Rev. Mr. Edgren had been a resident of Norway for the last 16 years.

He had gone to Minnesota for a visit, and was cut about the face and badly bruised when an automobile, driven by his son-in-law, Hugo Hoglund, and a second machine, collided. His injuries were not regarded as serious, and he was brought to Norway by his son, Dr. R. H. Edgren, of Winona, Minn. He failed to gain, and last week was taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Hoglund, seriously injured in the accident, is on the way to recovery. Mr. Hoglund and their daughter, Marian, escaped with but a few slight scratches.

Tourists Visit Canadian Camp for Nazi Prisoners

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—Many American tourists are crossing St. Mary's river here to visit the Canadian camp for Nazi war prisoners at Espanola, 153 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, on the Great Northern highway.

About 1,000 German soldiers and sailors are held here—sailors from the Graf Spee's auxiliary ship Altmark, captured in the famous sea fight near Buenos Aires; parachute troops from Belgium and Holland who came down behind the British lines; and flyers taken at Dunkirk and in Holland, Norway and Belgium. The prisoners are well treated and for the most part take their capture philosophically.

A still larger camp for German prisoners is maintained by the Canadian Government at Nipigon, near Port Arthur, in northern Ontario, on the north shore of Lake Superior.

Accident Benefit Plan To Protect High School Boys

Lansing, Aug. 13, (AP)—An athletic accident benefit plan will protect upward of 15,000 Michigan high school boys when they return to classes in 300 state high schools this fall.

The attorney general has removed the last obstacle to the establishment of the plan by ruling that it is not an insurance program, Charles E. Forsythe, state high school athletic director, said.

The boys may obtain up to $300 in benefits by paying $1.50 per school year, the benefits to cover any injury suffered in an interscholastic athletic event or practice session. It does not cover intramural sports.

For 75 cents a boy may obtain covereage for all sports except football, and for an additional 10 cents coverage for injuries while being transported to or from a game.

Forsythe said the benefit payments would come from the registration fees of schools participating and from the boys' premiums.

Forsythe warned school authorities that they must not relax normal safety practice nor cheapen safety equipment after the plan is placed in effect.

All Escanaba policemen will report for inspection at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, said a notice on the bulletin board at the station yesterday. They were instructed to be in uniform wearing blue shirts and the implication was that they should all be looking pretty slick.

No explanation of the order was given. Members of the fire department also are expected to be able to pass muster that day.

Thanks For Courtesy, It's Fine Law, Writes Grateful Woman From Saginaw

The sewing of nearly 500 "courtesy" traffic tags by city police this summer is bringing a good harvest if a letter received by Mayor Sam R. Wickman is any indication of the general reaction of tourists.

"We shall again visit your city and always remember the place where good neighbors can be found. This is a great asset to any place where people can go for a visit and trade in a friendly way," wrote Mrs. Leo P. Wagner of Saginaw, who received an 'improper parking" courtesy tag when she stopped here enroute to Copper Harbor.

The letter points out that tourists, even from within the state, are often unfamiliar with local traffic regulations and emphasizes that the courtesy tag is greatly appreciated.

"We are proud to know that there are places in the state where visitors and tourists are given kind attention and worthy consideration," the letter says, and it congratulates the mayor and the city for the courtesy tag policy.

NATURALIZATION LAW IS EASED

Foreign-Born Children, Married Women Get Concessions

Notification of an easement in the regulations for naturalization for foreign-born children who have become 21 and for women who have married aliens, but remained in the United States, has been received by County Clerk P. A. LeClaire's office.

The new ruling as to children who have attained their majority in the United States specifies that if they were less than 16 years old when they entered the country, they may upon becoming 21 years old (if otherwise eligible for citizenship) be naturalized under the following conditions: No declaration of intention shall be required and the petition for naturalization shall be filed within one year after such alien becomes 21 years old.

The act is retroactive, and applies to aliens who entered the United States before its enactment by the 76th congress.

If a native born woman who has married an alien has lived continuously in the United States following her marriage, she will be allowed certain concessions as specified in the original naturalization law, the notice says.

The office here was notified by M. H. Powers, inspector in charge of the immigration and naturalization office, Sault Ste. Marie, United States department of justice.

Not Forced to Strict Diet Now

Distress Does Not Follow Her Meals; Backaches Relieved; So Glad She Learned of The KruGon Remedy

"I want everyone who suffers as I did to try KruGon," said Mrs. Rose Petrone, No. 1 Washington St., Mt. Clemens, Michigan. "My suffering had been so intense over the past fifteen years with the accumulation of those clogged intestinal impurities from a stubborn case of faulty elimination. It seemed I could not find foods that would digest properly. I dieted carefully but even then it did me no real good. I became nervous, couldn't get a good nights' sleep and my back ached continually. Then those pains developed and settled over my body generally but especially in my shoulders and arms. I found myself lacking in my usual pep and energy and most everything I did was an awful effort. I don't know what I would have done had I not learned of KruGon when I did."

"KruGon showed me rapid improvement from the first few doses," continued Mrs. Petrone. "Then with proper bowel action and elimination of the effects of those clogged intestinal impurities I began to show rapid improvement. My digestion is now fine, nerves are calm, backaches have been relieved and those awful pains over my body seems to have vanished. I again have good strength and energy and I do not hesitate in recommending KruGon to everyone after all it has done for me."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

All Broke the Rules

THREE airplane accidents have occurred in the Upper Peninsula this summer, and in every instance violations of the flying regulations were associated with the tragedies. Not one was due to engine failure or other airplane defects.

The newspaper account of the crash, which resulted in the death of two persons at Iron Mountain recently, reveals that a solo flyer was flying with a passenger. This is contrary to federal regulations for the pilot held a certificate, which entitled him to fly only alone.

A previous accident at Menominee was accompanied by two infractions of the rules. A private pilot was flying with a solo pilot, and they were practicing at too low an altitude.

Earlier in the year, an airplane crash occurred at Houghton. The student pilot was taking photographs from the plane and also was flying below the required altitude in making sharp turns to salute his fraternity house.

Those sincerely interested in the development of aviation are deeply disappointed over the year's accident record, considered to be the worst in the history of the Upper Peninsula. The bad record is publicized at a time when great strides are being made in Escanaba and elsewhere in the Upper Peninsula to train young men for aviation careers.

There is something of value to be gained by these student pilots from series of tragedies, however. It should be an unforgettable warning that it is never safe to break the rules.

A Big Industry

THE Delta county unit of the Railroad Co-operative League of Michigan has presented some highly interesting statistics in a pamphlet recently distributed.

The pamphlet states that Delta county's three railroads—Chicago and North Western, Soo Line and Escanaba and Lake Superior—currently employ 953 persons. In better times, the employment figure is even greater it ads.

Wages paid out by the railroads in Delta county in 1939 totaled $1,804,252.62. In addition, this county received $44,224.80 in taxes from the railroads in state primary school funds.

The figures are not altogether surprising for everyone is aware of the importance of the railroads to the economic wellbeing of Escanaba, Gladstone and other communities of Delta county. When business is bad on the railroads, retail business is correspondingly affected on Main Street. The interests of the communities are definitely linked with the railroads which serve them.

Badly Loaded Trucks

STATE police have notified loggers and other truckers to be careful in the loading of their trucks after a tourist's automobile was damaged near Newberry recently when a piece of cordwood fell off a passing truck.

Many motorists report they get the jitters when they see a load of logs piled high on a truck. Accidents have occurred in the past as a result of the breaking or loosening of the chains holding the logs, and they fear that they may happen again. The fact that the authorities are making periodic checks of such loads to promote safety should be of some consolation to the fearful, however.

The Big Woods

WHEN the white man came to America, much of our vast country was a great forest. We cut the trees, wantonly, carelessly, because they seemed inexhaustible.

We came to regret it. Thirty or so years ago, wise men began to realize that we had squandered our patrimony. A movement began for conservation of the trees without which man lives but a meager life.

Today 200,000,000 acres of nationally owned and administered forest land is in sight — there are today more than 176,000,000 acres, nearly 10 per cent of our total area. We are on the way, by taking thought and planning, to restoring the wealth we once so carelessly squandered. By doing so, we build assurance for the future and enrich life in the present.

Yet the little band of "conservationists" who began shouting for this 30 years ago were regarded as fanatics. We owe a debt to their foresight and their persistence.

The Hammers Begin to Ring

THE exact state of preparedness progress is hard to determine at any given moment.

In its intensive state the program was launched only in May. It was not to be expected that much actual material would have been produced by now.

But it is reassuring to have it on as good authority as Defense Commissioner Knudsen that 40,000 more people are working at shipbuilding than in the 10-year peak year 1937; that the aircraft industry is employing 50,000 more, and machine tools 18,000; that 80,000 are actively training for defense industry jobs.

Men at work are going to produce something. Arsenals working three shifts instead of two are going to produce something. Before the first of the year very tangible results are going to come rolling from the shops. And by spring we can probably see the beginning of a modern defense setup.

AROUND THE PENINSULA
(Ironwood Globe)

Few lake enthusiasts get more fun out of summer life than Charles Stoll of Escanaba, who frequently cruises along the shores of the Peninsula with his schooner Mindemoya. Stoll enters his ship in most of the regattas despite that he has to handicap other ship so much that he has little chance of coming in first. He is little concerned about winning, but a regatta out of Escanaba or Menominee wouldn't be much of a success without the Mindemoya as an entry.

Oscar G. Olander, state commissioner of public safety, expects to make more frequently visits to the Peninsula during the summer months. And the reason is the "kick" he got out of trolling for lake trout. After trolling for trout off Presque Isle, Olander said, "Now I know why lake trout trolling has become a major tourist lure for your Upper Peninsula lake port towns. I have done a lot of fishing, but this is by all odds the most fun." The good word that Olander will spread down state will be equal to much paid advertising.

A native of Vulcan has received considerable favorable mention in "Who's Who In America." He is Professor Robert Phillips of Purdue university. He was born in Vulcan, attended the grade schools there and was graduated from Norway high school in 1907 as valedictorian of the class. He completed his education at the University of Michigan. Special recognition is due to the fact that he is the author of several books, one of which is "American Government and Its Problems." Professor Phillips' rise in the field of education refutes the old contention that the valedictorian of a class seldom is more than nominally successful.

The Peninsula may have a national women's golfing champion one of these years. She is 20 year old Mary Agnes Wall, daughter of "Frisco" Wall of Menominee, who has been competing in big time competition for several years. In the first round of the women's western golf derby at Chicago last week, she was within two strokes of Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Calif., the defending champion. With another year or two of experience, it is predicted that Miss Wall will break into the headlines as a champion.

With congress having authorized the state of Michigan to construct a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac, the Sault Ste. Marie has gradually enlisted the support of most sections of this north country. Now the campaign will get under way to get pledges from state legislators to support the plan, the principal job of which is to decide where and how the funds will be obtained.

Authorities at Houghton didn't stop at arraigning an Atlantic resident for drunken driving. After he was fined $50 and costs, the owner of the car the drunken driver was piloting was also arraigned and fined $50 and costs. He was charged with authorizing and knowingly permitting a motor vehicle to be operated by a person under the influence of intoxicating liquor. This was notice to automobile owners that they must accept responsibility if they allow drunken men to drive their cars.

Negaunee continues to have its trouble with delinquent electric light accounts and fro mthe size of some of the accounts, the board of public works is long over due in its threat to discontinue service to 48 homes and business places. In the accounts are four in excess of $100, the highest being $193.29. Others amount to $163.15, $143.72 and $116.44. There are also 11 accounts that are in excess of $50 and many of the others approximate $25 each. Some of the large accounts are owed by business places and as Supt. William T. Heggaton suggests, it might be extremely embarrassing if their service were cut off one of these days.

IN WISCONSIN
(Marquette Mining Journal)

The chance of the re-election of Senator LaFollette, who will run as a Progressive candidate, is regarded as considerably enhanced by the condition that among the Democratic aspirants for the nomination there is no Roosevelt New Dealer. Whoever is nominated will be a candidate of comparatively conservative tinge whom, it is believed, Democratic New Dealers will be loath to support. They are, accordingly, expected to vote for LaFollette.

The Progressive party is badly disorganized. But the LaFollettes in most of the campaigns in which they have participated, the campaign of 1938 being the conspicuous exception, have been stronger than their party. Because of the support they have been given by the President they have received many Democratic votes. As this year the President is principally concerned with the Wisconsin electoral votes, he will have to permit Senator LaFollette to shift for himself. But he will get a substantial number of Democratic votes.

The election results in the state in 1938 indicate that if Senator LaFollette is defeated the candidate who will succeed him will be a Republican. The Republican nomination is, in view of the promising outlook for the party, being sought by several aspirants. The Republicans carried the state decisively two years ago, and with the help of a strong national ticket their position at the outset of the campaign is at least as good as it was then.

MR. HOOVER'S MISTAKE
(Wallace, Idaho, Miner)

An inspired piece from one of the New Deal propagandists says that "Hoover was a complete failure." So he was. He failed in a lot of things. He failed to draw out his salary of $75,000 a year while he was President, turning it all back into the Treasury.

He failed to have his sons organize insurance company firms to write insurance on government enterprises. He built a Rapidan resort for fishing and recreation at his own expense and gave it to the government. None of his sons went racing through the divorce courts to the disillusionment of the public.

He never bundled up a lot of government documents to sell as a book to the faithful at a huge profit to himself and he never sold himself into political slavery to a labor organization for a $500,000 campaign fund. He gathered a marvelous collection of war stuff and built a museum for it, failed to ask Congress to pay the bill—he paid it himself.

He did not preach class hatred, nor try to pack the Supreme Court. He did not plow up every third row of cotton and he did not promise the American people one thing while at the same moment doing everything to accomplish the directly opposite result.

He did not ask Congress to assess the taxpayers a billion dollars every time someone shot off a firecracker in Europe, and he did not go on fishing trips on government warships, accompanied by a fleet of destroyers.

Neither did he kill off all the farmers' little pigs or encourage the importation of Argentine beef. In fact, there were a lot of foolish things Hoover didn't do that some other people have done. There are a lot of constructive things he could have done if he had not had the opposition of a Democratic Congress, but anyway, he did not leave the American people $45,000,000,000 in debt.

Washington—First repeat performance in the European war is likely to be staged in Finland.

Foreign correspondents have left Helsinki, although communications from that city are not subject to censorship. News of what is happening there comes from German dominated news outlets in Stockholm. More reliable information filters through in official diplomatic communiques.

The Communist party is outlawed in Helsinki, but recently 400 members of the Soviet League of Peace and Friendship staged a demonstration there, and clamored for union with the U. S. S. R.

Twenty-four hours after the March 13 peace treaty was signed, The Finns began construction of a new Mannerheim line. And Finland's defenses have been strengtened by a flow of supplies from the United States which have been coming in steadily since then.

When the Finns had to fight last winter they were handicapped because orders placed in America in September, 1939, had not been filled.

—NO HELP FOR FINNS—

Side by side with her defense preparations, Finand has carried out a brave reconstruction program throughout the late spring and summer.

It seems doubtful that Finland is sufficiently rehabilitated, or sufficiently equipped to repel another Russian invasion now.

The numerical odds against her will be about 10 to 1 as they were last December.

What the Finns call "Narva" weather is due soon, and that would weight the odds in their favor.

In the deep snow of early winter Russia's mechanized units will bog down, and the skillful Finnish skiers in white uniforms will have the advantage.

Also the ice on Finland's lakes is not thick enough until January and February to bear the weight of war vehicles.

Finland can expect little help from other countries.

An official of the German government here privately reports his country unwilling to help Finland in the event of another Russian invasion.

He says Finland has not been properly grateful for Germany's assistance in her fight for independence. That was 23 years ago.

—MRS. ROOSEVELTS BIOGRAPHY SOON—

The first biography of Eleanor Roosevelt will be published on her birthday this year. But that is an accident.

Ruby Black, Washington newspaperwoman and author of the book, was curious to know why her publishers had decided to bring it out on Oct. 11, less than a month before the presidential elections.

On second thought, she decided the publishers were publicity wise to pick Mrs. Roosevelt's birthday, and wrote them a congratulatory note about it.

They answered saying they hadn't known it was Mrs. Roosevelt's birthday. They always publish their books on Friday, and Oct 11 just happened to be the first Friday open on their schedule.

Bureau of mines researchers have figured out two new processes which will make the United States self-sufficient in manganese. Until the war the United States imported all but 6 per cent of its needs in this essential war material.

The new processes make it possible to make better use of domestic 10 per cent of the metal, compared with 50 to 80 per cent in imported ores.

Hollywood—Even if she is the daughter of a studio owner, Margaret Roach believes she may have a future in the movies.

It hasn't been easy up to now. Hal Roach doesn't go in for nepotism with his kids. Hal, Jr., has been held down to a well-earned, hard-working assistant directorship, and Margaret played extra and bit roles on every lot in town before she landed supporting parts in "Turnabout" and the current "Road Show" at her father's studio.

"He didn't oppose me," she explained. "He just didn't think I could do it. I don't know what he thinks now."

I asked how many real roles she had had, and she said six. "But if you turned your head for a second, or blinked, you'd probably miss me in those first ones.

"In this picture I'm a sort of honky-tonk singer with a carnival. It's funny, after studying voice and hoping I could do operatic stuff, that my first singing for the screen is a hot number. It's called 'Yum-Yum' and it's good. Hoagie Carmichael wrote it."

AN ONION FOR LOVE

Miss Roach's costume is a skimpy black velvet affair, and I hear the Hays Office is a little worried about the neckline. Her figure is on the plumpish side, at least among movie actresses, and curves always scare the censors. Just after assuring me that she has begun to diet strenuously, she went over to a stand and got a sandwich. She wasn't backsliding, though, because all she ate of it was a large slice of onion. This was in preparation for a love scene with John Hubbard, who had played a trick on her in a previous shot. Tickled in the clinch, I believe.

We got back to the subject of how to be an actress though the daughter of the boss. She said that after some stage experience with Ben Bard's stock company, and after a singing engagement in a local nightery, she had done extra work for two years. She adopted the name of Diane Rochelle and for a long time other players had no idea she was a million-heiress.

UP FROM ANONYMITY

"One day," she recalled, "there were a lot of us on the 'Marie Antoinette' set at Metro and somebody started to pan a person who works on the Hal Roach lot. Others chimed in and I was having a hard time looking unconcerned. Just then an assistant who knew me came over and said, "You're wanted on the phone, Miss Roach.' Boy!—you could have heard their jaws drop! Right then I quit being Diane Rochelle.

For a while I had trouble getting jobs. Agents didn't want to handle me because they were afraid my father would be mad at them if they didn't get me big roles. And casting directors didn't want to hire me because, they said, "If she's any good, why doesn't her old man use her?' "

We all made concessions.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—There was a double purpose behind that official spanking of John Cudahy, U. S. Ambassador to Nazi-occupied Belgium.

One was to repudiate the millionaire Milwaukeean's extra-ordinary appeasement interview. The other was a pointed warning to Joseph P. Kennedy, U. S. Ambassador to Britain, not to indulge in such talk.

It has been no secret to the State Department for some time that the wealthy Ambassador from Boston is distinctly appeasement-minded.

On close terms with the ill-fated Chamberlain government, Kennedy has evinced greater concern privately over the possible political after-effects of the war than repelling the Nazi-Fascist aggressors. He viewed the inclusion of British leaders in the Churchall cabinet with alarm.

The Nazi air attacks seem to weigh heavily on Kennedy and of late he has talked considerably about returning to the United States and resigning. He also is displaying sharp disapproval of the President's uncompromising anti-Axis policy as well as other Administration matters.

In inner State Department circles Kennedy is tied up directly with Cudahy's outburst. The press cables did not report the fact, but the State Department learned that Cudahy conferred with Kennedy before sounding off to the newsmen.

—DRAFT DODGERS—

Business is demanding—and getting — very generous tax concessions to produce the tanks, planes, guns and other weapons the country needs for its defense. In a number of cases, the government, in effect, will build plants which will belong to business.

But although the conscription bill still is far from enactment, certain business advisers already are tipping off businessmen on how they can dodge serving their country in uniform.

One of these outfits is the Research Institute of America, Inc., with a Madison Ave., N. Y., address and a large clientele. In its August 3 "Business and Legislative Report", edited by Leo M. Cherne, the Institute gives these helpful suggestions on "How you can protect your key workers against conscriptions":

1. First make sure the business is essential to war production. This can be done by converting a part of it to such activity.
2. Prepare to prove the necessity of the business, the importance of its key workers and the reasons why they can't be replaced.
3. Place the men desired to be kept out of the draft in key positions.

—WILLKIE BIOGRAPHER—

Newsmen combing Elwood, Ind., for local color on its celebrated native son have found Frank Wilkie, uncle of the GOP standard bearer, to be the best source of information about him.

Uncle Frank is a husky retired steel worker who looks a great deal like his nephew. He is a Catholic, former member of the Elwood City Council and a few years ago was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Mayor. He explains the one "l" spelling of his name by saying that it is spelled both ways in the family.

According to Frank, the founder of the Willkie clan in the U. S. was William Josef Willcke, a German Catholic, who migrated to northern Indiana near the middle of the last century. His sons, Herman Willkie and Paul Wilkie, also born in Germany, changed their names when they entered a Methodist College at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Herman, the Republican candidate's father, married a Methodist and changed to that faith. The father was a successful and highly respected lawyer and his mother, a very talented woman, was the first of her sex to be admitted to the Indiana bar.

Although Wendell was born and reared in Elwood and the little town is in a high fever of excitement over his fame and the acceptance ceremony, a few months ago it was quite different.

Jim Carr, member of the Republican State Committee, laughingly tells the story that several weeks before the Philadelphia convention he got a hunch that Willkie might be nominated and went to the Elwood Chamber of Commerce with the suggestion that the town start boosting Willkie for President.

"Wendell Willkie," languidly inquired the Chamber of Commerce functionary, "who's he?"

Today, pictures of the home-town hero are on every lamppost and in every window. The cost of the ceremony will run around $50,000. Six hundred uniformed state police and several hundred plainclothesmen from neighboring cities will handle the crowd. Only 75,000 will be able to get within seeing distance of the Speakers' platform. The remainder of the 200,000 who are expected to attend will follow the proceedings through an extensive loud speaker system.

FAIR TO OFFER EVENING SHOW

"Rise and Cheer" To Be Grandstand Event Sept. 11-14

"The outdoor stage show, 'RISE AND CHEER', to be presented before the grandstand at the Upper Peninsula State Fair, September 11-14, is another success which lovers of exceptional theatrical entertainment will thoroughly enjoy," says Superintendent of the Midway Patrick Kelly of Watersmeet.

Reviewers who have seen the show presented at large fairs and expositions prior to its coming to Escanaba are enthusiastic in their praises of this greatest of all Barnes-Carruthers productions. Fair goers will find no finer entertainment offered anywhere in the middle west this season and the Board of Managers of the Fair present with pride this outstanding production.

A feature of "RISE AND CHEER" is the stage setting. Included is a large background piece resembling a rainbow, which is brilliantly illuminated through many new tricks in indirect lighting. The setting is of huge proportions, stretching out before the grandstand for 160 feet.

There are five acts, or ensembles, and each is profusely embellished with ultra-modernistic costumes conceived and made for this show. The opening, a "Pirate Fantasy", is swiftly paced by the large chorus. The next number, "Fantasy in Gold," brings the big array of dancers to the spotlight in gorgeous green gowns, enriched with huge, glittering golden sleeves. In this scene the prima donna, Elvira Morton, reaches the peak of the vocal part of the performance. "Old Spain" is the theme of the next episode, a vivid display of colorful costumes, Spanish music and appropriate songs. As a novelty, the producers then offer a lariat number, with the chorus demonstrating their skill in twirling the rope. The costumes are of the radium type, which brings about an unusual effect during a "blackout." The finale, which is patriotic in theme, is one of the most artistic and elaborate ever presented out of doors. The dancers appear in richly designed military attire, with huge hats and long, swishing capes. In the distance may be heard the soft notes of "taps" from a trumpet as the chorus stands at attention. At this point a large flag is lowered as the prima donna sings "God Bless America."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

Every day German and Italian officials think up something new to ban.

One of the most amusing is Italy's recent ban on petting.

Petting is listed by the prefecture of police in Milan as a "frivolous activity which contrasts with the present international situation."

The thing that is really getting police officials down is the way couples take carriage rides during black-outs.

Now if the officials knew as much about young people as any dean of women or housemother on a college campus knows, they would have anticipated the advantage of black-outs to the youth of the land.

But evidently the fact that youth would take advantage of such a situation at such a time in their country's history comes as a complete shock to the Italian officials.

IT'S ALL A BIT PUZZLING

The puzzling thing is how is Italy going to enforce its ban against the frivolous activity called "petting"?

If they throw offenders into concentration camps—a great number of Italy's young folks will soon be enjoying camp life.

And if there is no punishment for the crime—the ban won't do a bit of good.

The young folks in Italy must be a little bit puzzled themselves.

On the one hand, they are told it is their duty to marry early and have lots of children for Italy's future army.

On the other hand, they are told that "romancing" is a frivoluous activity.

Shoes Made Of Vinylite Newest On Fashion Scene

New York — Newest material to come out of the chemist's test tube is vinylite, a flexible plastic, made from gas, salt, coke and water.

It makes scuff-proof, perspiration and water-proof, easy-to-clean and extremely long-wearing shoes that will appear in the American fashion scene for all. Transparent vinylite evening shoes look for all the world like Cinderella's glass slipper. Colored vinylite is used for both day and evening shoes in combination with kid, suede, reptile skin and other leathers.

* * *

ELASTICITY ASSURES PERFECT FITTING

The new plastic will be particularly useful in children's shoes where scuffing is a real problem, and in high-throated shoes where the fit must be perfect and the shoe stay on without straps or ties. Elasticity of vinylite solves these problems. It stretches to fit the foot, but does not bind or grip. It holds its shape.

In addition, flexible vinylite will be used for belts and suspenders, luggage covers, linings for beverage cans and milk and medicine bottle caps, dentures and many other ways.

Ford Company Conducts U. P. Farm Experiment

With the failure of natural resources in the Upper Peninsula, people have turned to agriculture and one of the leaders in experimentation during the past five years has been the Ford Motor Company which is conducting experiments in soy bean cultivation.

Work in this special branch of agriculture was first started in 1935 by the Ford farm department at the Iron Mountain plant. Men in charge of Ford farms in the Upper Peninsula visited soy bean plantings in Indiana and Southern Michigan and studied the uses of the beans at Ford Village Industries and the Rouge plant.

They gathered findings of agricultural colleges and especially of the University of Wisconsin, whose work in soy bean research has been outstanding.

The first beans planted at Iron Mountain were Illinois beans, a type found successful throughout the midwest However, as the growing season in the Upper Peninsula is seldom more than 100 days, the variety proved a failure by requiring at least 115 days to reach maturity.

Numerous Experiments

One experiment after another was attempted in the gardens near the Iron Mountain plant with 75 varieties of beans tried without success. They were planted also on other Ford properties in the peninsula, assuring a fair test of soil throughout the section.

Faced with a short growing season, difficult climatic conditions and soil deficiencies, experimentation went forward. Careful records of the date of the planting, sprouting, flowering and often the arrival of a killing frost before the beans reached maturity were kept for five years.

As the last killing frost is seldom later than June 1 in the Upper Peninsula, and the first fall frost may be expected by September 15, a bean was needed that would mature during this short growing period. Among beans discarded during the search was the famous Manchu, claimed by well-known agriculturists as the most likely to succeed.

The University of Wisconsin suggested that Ford men investigate the work of farmers in Ontario, Canada, where soy beans were being grown under conditions similar though not so adverse as those in Northern Michigan.

A total of 125 bushels of a little-known variety of beans, called 'Mandarins," arrived at Iron Mountain in 1935. Two years later the first profitable crop was harvested from 125 acres. A thousand bushels were shipped to Dearborn for processing in one of the Ford Village Industry soy bean mills, while the remainder of the crop was kept for seed. Last summer 350 acres of beans grown from seed produced exclusively at Iron Mountain were under cultivation in the Upper Peninsula.

Operate Other Farms

In addition to the Iron Mountain farm, experiments have been carried on at Gladstone, L'Anse and Randville. The Gladstone farm is now producing the Mandarin bean, the only disadvantage being that there is insufficient high land on the farm to afford sufficient acreage. Most of the land is low black swamp soil which will grow beans to enormous height, but is also the first to be affected by frost.

The L'Anse farm has been discontinued due to it being in a rain belt, the seasons have been so wet that the prospects of developing it into a soy bean farm were very remote.

The Randville farm, which was started last year, is regarded as a fine prospect for the production of the Soy bean. Beans were raised there last summer, but were badly stunted by frost on August 26 and did not produce a good mature bean. This year, however, if there is no early frost a very good yield is expected.

Their plans to pay each other a visit somehow never materialized until this summer.

Mr. Ranville was accompanied on his trip by his only daughter, Mrs. Edna Turek.

PLEDGES TEACHERS AID

Iron Mountain—Casey C. Wiggins, of Marquette, Democratic candidate for state senator, said at Marquette yesterday that he will pledge his "best efforts, if elected, in behalf of the teachers and all others who hope to benefit in their declining years by the teachers' retirement fund."

Wiggins is head of the commerce department at the Northern State Teachers' college.

"Educators in the public schools and colleges of Michigan are paying regularly and religiously into the teachers retirement fund," Wiggins said, "and the state legislature is supposed to contribute adequately to this fund. It was the understanding that the state would match, dollar for dollar, the contributions by the teachers in order to make and keep this fund actually sound. The legislature has not been keeping faith with the teachers."

GUIDE PROJECT IS CONSIDERED

Training Program for This County May Be Promoted

The Manistique Chamber of Commerce is investigating the possibility of promoting a WPA guide demonstration project here, it was announced yesterday.

The project is designed to train registered year around guide service for this section.

Among the subjects included in the training program are the following: study of fish and bird habits, camp cookery, compass work, hunting and fishing localities, first aid, construction of rustic furniture, fly tying, rod and gun repairing, proper handling of boats, taxidermy, and allied subjects.

After the guides have successfully completed their course of training, they are registered with the Michigan Guide association.

The cost of the project, which lasts about five months with a crew of about 25 men, is estimated at $250 for the sponsoring institution plus facilities for housing, water, lights, etc., and the use of a truck to haul materials. The men assigned to the project are paid by WPA funds.

Marquette—Next Tuesday, August 20, has been selected as the date for the formal opening and dedication of M-94, scenic lake shore drive between Marquette and Munising, it was announced yesterday by Ben DeVoe, secretary of the Marquette Chamber of Commerce.

Originally planned for last fall, the celebration was postponed until this summer because Murray D. House Of David Nine To Play Here Tonight

The Colored House of David baseball nine, said to be the only whiskered colored team cavorting on the diamonds of this country, will clash with the Redskins in a game on the North Ninth street diamond here this evening.

The game is called for 6 o'clock. It is being sponsored to bolster finances of the Redskins treasury and an advance ticket sale has been conducted to help in the purpose.

The House of David aggregation is of the first water for in 1939 they won 120 out of 175 games. Besides playing a high class brand of ball they provide fans with some of baseball's funniest attractions with their various antics, clowning and joking.

Numerous outstanding players stud their lineup. As evidence of their drawing ability they played before over 300,000 persons in the United States, Canada and the West Indies last season.

Rapid River Church To Celebrate 45th Anniversary Sunday, Aug. 18

On Sunday, August 18, St. Martin's Evangelical Lutheran church, Rapid River, will be privileged to look back on 45 years of organized spiritual work in that community, for St. Martin's was organized in the month of August 1895, the exact date is not known, under the leadership of Pastor Paul Korn, then travelling missionary of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Wisconsin.

The anniversary on Sunday will be observed by a special divine service in the English language, beginning at 11 o'clock. Pastor Masch will preach the anniversary sermon. Louise and Edythe Proehl and Rosella Neumann will render "God of Might We Praise Thy Name." The climax of the celebration will be the partaking of the Lord's Supper. After the service the members of the congregation will retreat to the home of Mrs. Martha Proehl, where the ladies will serve dinner and a social program will be enjoyed.

The organization at the time aimed to provide for especially people, who some years prior to 1895, had emigrated to this country from Germany. Quite naturally for the public services the German language was used. It is this fact that gave to this organization the name German church.

In its 45 years of existence the need has been felt more and more to employ more frequently the English language for the public services. At the present time nearly 100 per cent of them are conducted in the English language.

Fifteen pastors have during the 45 years served St. Martin's. Only three of them resided in Rapid River, the other twelve served St. Martin's either from Florence, Wis., Hyde, Escanaba, Manistique or Gladstone. The present pastor of the church (since October 1927), the Rev. Theophil Hoffmann, has his residence in Gladstone.

Of the original charter members only four remain: William Vietzke, Sr., Chas. Vietzke, Werner Vietzke, Sr., and Albert Proehl. For the anniversary service these four will occupy special seats of honor. For this service a former pastor of St. Martin's, the Rev. John Masch of Black Creek, Wis., has been invited to occupy the pulpit. He was pastor of St. Martin's from 1915 to 1918 and resided in Rapid River.

The present officers of the church are Rudie Jehn, president; Fred W. C. Vitzke, secretary and treasurer. Mrs. Eli Schram is president of the Ladies' Aid and Mrs. Emma Turen secretary and treasurer. At the present time St. Martin's numbers 76 souls, of which 60 are communicants. The present church building was erected in 1901.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Selling diminished in the stock market today, permitting a straggling recovery in aircrafts, steels and other groups hardest hit by the war news scare in the previous session.

After a flurry of buying around the opening, lifting some stocks a point or more, the rally waned. At the finish many issues had yielded part or all of the forenoon advances, making a mixture of net gains and losses.

Noting the London markets refused to be flustrated by the big aerial attacks on England. Wall Street traders took the war reports more calmly, brokers said. Nevertheless, there was an obvious tendency in trading circles to operate cautiously while the outcome of the battle of England remained in doubt.

A little short-covering was sufficient to stiffen prices as offerings slackened. Aircrafts were strengthened by a rise in Douglas on announcement the warplane manufacturer planned to spend $20,000,000 for the expansion of its productive capacity in southern California. Douglas ended 1½ higher at 68¾.

Trade reports indicating steel orders still were running at a high level helped the stocks of that industry for a time. Bethlehem was up more than a point on the rally but lost the gain to finish slightly down at 74. U. S. Steel retained a fractional gain.

The "Iron Age" said the setback in steel production this week was attributable mostly to a vacation shutdown of one plant in the Pittsburgh district rather than to any significant change in trends.

The publication pointed out industrial activity was increasing in many directions as result of U. S. defense spending and other influences.

But business data again seemed to take second place to the Anglo-Nazi struggle and U. S. preparations for the defense program, including alterations in federal tax laws to encourage plant expansion..

Among shares off fractions to a point at the close were American Telephone, International Harvester, General Motors, Chrysler, Kennecott and American Can. Du Pont dropped nearly 2.

Great Northern preferred, U. S. Rubber, J. C. Penney and General Electric were up fractions to a point.

The Associated Press composite price of 60 stocks ended .3 of a point down at 41.4. Transactions slowed to 271,870 shares, compared with 641,350 yesterday.

Towermen Play Part In Defense Scheme

Roscommon — Towermen in more than 100 high steel towers of the conservation department's forest fire detection system scanning the horizon as usual for telltale smudges of smoke, have a newly discovered value in the scheme for national defense.

So valuable were the radio-equipped observation towers in reporting the strength, speed and direction of attacking forces in the recent aerial defense of the Detroit industrial area from raids from the north in mock war maneuvers that similar state and federal units throughout the country are getting recognition of their military usefulness.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP)—Showing more steadiness than was the case yesterday, wheat prices today dipped fractionally and then held at a level only slightly above the season's lows, which stand as the lowest quotations posted here in almost a year.

Selling was on a modest scale, coming from hedgers reflecting increased movement of new spring wheat, spreaders and interests affected by apprehension over the war and the North American surplus problem. These sales were partly offset by buying inspired by the better tone of securities as well as some purchasing of mills and short covering.

Wheat closed ¼ to 3-4 lower than yesterday, corn ¼ to ½ down, oats unchanged to 3-8 off.... soy beans ¼ to 5-8 lower, rye ¼ to ½ down and lard 2 to 8 lower. All lard futures, September oats, October soy beans and May rye established new lows for the season, with lard at the lowest figures in seven years.

Receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth, principal spring wheat terminals, totalled 1,039 cars, compared with 227 a week ago and 358 a year ago. Weather has been favorable for harvesting.

● SERIAL STORY

MURDER INCOGNITO

BY NORMAN KAHL

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

MARTIN SAYLER — a lawyer with too many enemies.

DALE APPLEBY — Sayler's stepson.

RHODA WATERS — Appleby's fiancee.

HAZEL LEIGHTON — Sayler's sweetheart.

WINSLOW MARDELL—a gambler.

GEORGE BARBOUR—Sayler's law partner.

LIEUTENANT O'LEARY—police investigator.

• • •

Yesterday: Martin Sayler's five dinner guests find his body in the study. Dale calls police. Lieutenant O'Leary arrives, makes routine inquiries, then asks Dale: "If you did not touch the body, how did you know Sayler was shot?"

CHAPTER III

Dale fingered the black bow tie that stood out in sharp relief against his white mess jacket. How DID he know that his stepfather had died from a bullet? Lord, it was hot in the room. Funny, too. The air-cooling system had been working perfectly all evening.

"I don't know what made me think of shooting," Dale said in a monotone. "It's just the first thing that occurred to me. I don't know why. I just saw him there in that pool of blood, and the only thing I could think of was that he had been shot to death."

"Did your stepfather have any enemies?"

Dale wondered how he should answer that, and then he said, "Yes, lots of them."

"He was an attorney, wasn't he? Did he have many enemies as a result of his law practice?"

"I suppose so. Every lawyer has some."

"Don't you think he might have had more than the usual because of his parole racket?"

Dale shot a quick glance at the detective. "Then you know about that?"

"Sure. We've known about it all along, but we couldn't stop it. There wasn't anything we could put our fingers on. You know—getting convicts out of prison through crooked connections on the parole board and making them pay stiff fees if they didn't want to get sent back on trumped-up parole violations.

"Extortion, maybe. But what could we do? Nobody squawked, naturally. And if they had, it would have been the word of an ex-con against a respectable attorney."

Dale nodded. "It might have been almost anyone who killed him, I suppose."

Lieutenant O'Leary clasped his ear-lobe and pulled at it. "Yeah, might have been." He arose and stretched himself. "Let's go back to the study, I may want to look around a bit."

• • •

The body had been removed when they entered the room. Only a large, dark stain remained in physical evidence of the tragedy that had occurred there. O'Leary walked over to Sayler's desk and seated himself in the swivel chair. He opened the top drawer and fingered the sparse contents nonchalantly.

"Do you know very much about your stepfather's affairs?" the lieutenant asked.

"Practically nothing. He never confided in me."

"You knew about his parole business."

"Everybody knows about that."

O'Leary peered a moment at some papers he had removed from the desk drawer. "Tell me who was here tonight?" he asked.

Dale leaned against the mantle over the fireplace. "Miss Leighton and Mr. Barbour—I told you about them."

"Who is Barbour?"

"He was my stepfather's law partner."

"Okay. Who else?"

"There was Mr. Mardell and Miss Waters, my fiancee, and myself. The servants, of course, but they were in another part of the house."

O'Leary pinned his gaze directly on Dale. For a second, the young man met the stare and then he peered uneasily at the floor. "You said a little while ago," the officer recalled, "that Miss Leighton was coming in here to see Sayler when she found him dead. What did she want to see him about?"

"I don't know," Dale snapped. "Better ask her."

O'Leary's calm expression didn't waver. "I know this isn't much fun for you, Mr. Appleby. But it isn't much fun for me, either. There's been a murder committed in this house, and I'm going to be asking some awfully silly questions until I get the right answer. We get pretty curious about a lot of things that aren't any of our business."

Dale bit his lips. "I'm sorry. I'm upset, naturally. I'll try to help you."

"Thanks," said O'Leary. He brushed the insident aside. "I'm curious about this window next to the desk. You'll notice that the spot where the body lay was directly opposite."

Dale walked over to the window. "I don't think the shot could have been fired from the outside. My stepfather always kept the windows locked and there obviously isn't any glass broken. I don't see . . . Oh—oh, what's this?"

• • •

O'Leary got up and came to the window. "What's the matter?"

"Look, this window is unlatched. That's queer. Sayler never permitted that. He insisted the windows be kept locked."

"Maybe the housekeeper opened it."

"She wouldn't dare. My stepfather was very particular on that point. I think sometimes he was afraid."

O'Leary made a brief round of the room. "The others are locked," he said. "Tell me, when you were all standing in the room, did anyone go near the windows?"

Dale frowned. "Why, yes, now that you speak of it—George Barbour did. He was just looking out. There would certainly have been no point in his unlocking the window."

"Maybe not," O'Leary agreed. "Anyway, it's interesting."

Dale studied the latch on the French windows. "Of course, if the window had been unlocked, it might have been possible for someone to jimmy it from the outside and then close it again."

O'Leary went back to the desk. "It's possible. Anyway, we'll find out soon. The boys are going over the outside now for footprints and they can take a look at the windows in a little while."

Dale rested on the arm of the divan before the fireplace. "If the shot wasn't fired through the window, it stands to reason it must have been fired from somewhere inside the house—and that's absurd."

O'Leary nodded. "I hope we don't need to reach that conclusion. It's not pleasant."

"Nor is it possible—except, perhaps, for the servants."

O'Leary leaned back and tossed one knee over the other. "That's another thing I wanted to make sure about. During the 20 minutes, between the time Sayler left the drawing room and when Miss Leighton found his body, did any of you leave the other room?"

"No one. I tell you, Lieutenant, the idea of anyone within the house having murdered my stepfather is ridiculous. It just couldn't be done."

"Was anyone in the drawing room in such a position that he could see the entrance to the study?"

Dale reflected. "I couldn't say for certain. Rhoda might have—yes,of course. When Miss Leighton screamed, Rhoda saw her. She was looking in that direction, and she must have seen her."

"Then if Miss Waters had seen anyone entering the room before Miss Leighton went to it, she would have mentioned the fact?"

"I would most certainly think so. It would have been unusual at that time."

"Who's Mardell?" O'Leary suddenly blurted out. The change of subject startled Dale.

"I don't know exactly. I understood he had something to do with gambling."

"Whatwas he doing here tonight?"

"I wish I could answer that, Lieutenant. It's been whispered around that Sayler wanted to see him about some gambling debts. I don't know how true that is."

The police officer scratched his head and looked puzzled. "If you mean Mardell owed Sayler some money from gambling, it would hardly seem that he'd invite the man over for dinner to collect it."

Dale smiled. "You didn't know my stepfather very well. That would be precisely what he would do. His method of operating was mysterious—and usually cruel."

O'Leary looked up quizzically "You know his cruelty, then?"

The smile vanished from Dale's lips. "Yes," he said abruptly. "But I don't think that has anything at all to do with the case. I'd rather not speak of it."

• • •

For a moment, it seemed as if O'Leary intended to press the point. Instead, he asked, "And how about Hazel Leighton?"

"My stepfather had his sentimental side, too. He had been going out with Miss Leighton for the past year or so. My mother died three years ago, you see, and Sayler had several other heart interests after that. His friendship for Miss Leighton lasted longer than any of the others."

O'Leary picked up a small sheaf of papers from among the few he had spread before him on the desk. "I think I'd like to talk to the young lady. Maybe she'll know something about this."

Dale was curious. "Do you mind telling me what it is?"

"I found it in Sayler's top desk drawer," Lieutenant O'Leary explained. "He evidently wanted it handy for the young lady when she came in to see him. This is a cashier's check for $5000 made out to Hazel Leighton. And this"—he fingered a single sheet of legal-size paper—"this is a release made out to Martin Sayler guaranteeing against any breach of promise action. The two are clipped together—and the release hasn't been signed."

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Rallies sprouted in a few sections of the bond market today, but the main body of issues extended Tuesday's decline.

A sharp contraction in volume compared with the previous day led traders to conclude the selling started by Hitler's hard raids on Great Britain was subsiding. Dealings totalled $3,008,700, face value, against $5,107,950 yesterday, but the market remained handicapped by thinness of demand throughout the list.

Rails, recent trading favorites, paced the decline. Losses ran from fractions to around 2 points in Great Northern "G" 4s of '46 at 100, Boston & Maine 4s of '60 at 68½, Southern Railway Memphis 5s at 76½, and Alleghany Corp. stamped 5s of '50 at 42.

Portland General Electric 4½s, Pacific Gas 3¾s and Western Union 5s benefitted. An offset, however, was a 2 point dip in Commonwealth Edison convertible 3½s of '58.

In limited dealings U. S. governments slid off 1-32 to 15-32.

St. Joe Gridders Start Practices August 19

GET UNIFORMS AT 1 O'CLOCK

Coach Carl Kant Has Big Rebuilding Task for 1940 Season

St. Joseph high school gridders will get called into action next Monday, August 19, in the opening session at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, according to word received here yesterday from Coach Carl Kant, who is preparing to come to Escanaba from his home at Clintonville, Wisconsin, where he spent the summer months.

Kant, who has been working in a factory in Clintonville this summer, just recently attended the Wisconsin coaches' clinic held at LaCrosse, Wisconsin where Bernie Bierman and Harry Stuhldreher, two Big Ten coaches, served as instructors. Kant expects to arrive in Escanaba either Saturday or Sunday.

Has Tough Job

The St. Joseph mentor will be faced with a tough task in rebuilding his football team this fall. His squad of last year, which won five games in a row after a slow start, was almost completely wrecked by graduation of 13 lettermen, many of whom were regulars. Three regular backs, speedy Mike O'Donnell, Shot Gray and Eddie Hirn, will be sorely missed as will be the whole line with the exception of the ends.

Those missing, in addition to the three already mentioned, are Marvic, Viau, Ryan, Klotz, Breault, Loeffler, Pouliot, Rademacher, Corcoran and Johnson. This group bore the brunt of the Parochial defense and will be difficult to replace, especially in view of the small squad.

But, while the missing lettermen cut a big swath in the list of prospects, Coach Kant will have several promising veterans back. In the backfield will be slippery Joe Young, Knauf and Jim Baker, the former a regular last year and the latter two reserves. The ends should be well taken care of by LeRoy Baker and Freddie Hirn while Bonifas saw much action at center before suffering a fractured collar bone late in the season. Legault, a rugged chap, will be available at a guard post.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

RHYTHM AND TIMING are two of the most important items in any sport and probably no more important than in golf . . . that was demonstrated yesterday in the exhibition match between Mary Agnes Wall, Menominee's nationally known golfer, Mrs. Lou Poglits, Cotton Leonard and Bob Deo . . . Miss Wall, a cute little trick, doesn't weigh much more than a couple of pounds of feathers but she certainly packs a wallop . . . her first tee shot was 250 yards, with roll, right down the middle . . . her second one went 225 yards and cleared the trees very well . . . the crowd murmured audibly at her terrific drives and marveled at the distance she got considering her size . . . timing and rhythm, obviously, are the secret . . . all four golfers were playing very well and held the gallery's interest right to the end.

Some people have tact—others tell the truth.

HAD A VISIT the other day from Les Harger, Albion college field man who is making a tour of the peninsula lining up prospects for that school this fall . . . Harger is a fraternity brother of George Mathison at Gladstone but seems to be a swell guy in spite of it . . . got a note from Jim Rouman yesterday . . . says Jim: "Everything happens to me . . . first I lose the U. P. title by one point . . . the other day I lost a 14 pound trout . . . and on the way to the coaching school at Saginaw, my car breaks down and I have to take the bus . . . what have I done to deserve such a fate?"

You can't keep a good golfer downtown.

BUCK ERICKSON doesn't like to have us call the sport "kittenball" . . . writes Buck in his sports column: "If Cholly could stand about two innings, he'd find out there's nothing 'kittenish' about the game" . . . to which we agree with The Great Elmer . . . but if he wants to get technical about it, we might say there's nothing "soft" about the game, either . . . Buck, who has starred for several years with the "Terrible Swedes" of Iron Mountain, now is winding up his athletic career . . . he has only about 20 days before tripping down the aisle and then he'll have to stay home nights . . . of course, he doesn't suspect that as yet but we've seen it happen before . . . Buck says his little wifey is going to invite us up for a chicken dinner some night so she can put some poison in the soup for saying such terrible things about Buck.

Newberry Noses Out Colored 9 By Score Of 4-3

Newberry, Mich., Aug. 14.—An error, a wild pitch and a single were the implements Newberry used in the eighth inning here on Monday to nose out the colored House of David team by a score of 4-3.

The locals cracked out three runs in the second frame but the colored team came back to tie up the score in the first half of the eighth but Newberry scored in their half of the inning when Trieb was singled home by Michael.

MISS WALL TIES COURSE RECORD

Leonard - Poglits Beat Menominee Miss and Robert Deo

Miss Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, well known golfer, tied the course record at the Escanaba golf club yesterday in a special exhibition foursome with three local golfers.

After chalking up a 49 on her first round, Miss Wall posted a 41, two under par, on the second nine to tie the course mark.

Cotton Leonard, club pro, and Mrs. Lou Poglits, woman's champion of the club, won the low-ball, low-total match over Miss Wall and Robert Deo, local attorney.

All four golfers were hitting well off the tee but were experiencing difficulty in their short game. Leonard got hot in the second round and, at one stage, was three under par, getting an eagle on one hole. However, he lost his touch late in the afternoon and took fives on the last three holes.

Miss Wall, who has competed in many state and national tournaments, pleased the large gallery, which followed her, with her long drives, several going 250 yards. In the first round, however, Mrs. Poglits bettered her score by a scroke.

LOSING STREAK IS LEFT BEHIND

Blast In Eighth Brings 7 Detroit Runs; Four Pitchers Pounded

Detroit, Aug. 11, (AP)—Snapping out of their four-game losing streak with a vengeance, the Detroit Tigers turned on a 7-run blast in the eighth inning today and trounced the St. Louis Browns with a 13 to 7 count.

After a rather sluggish exhibition in the early innings, the angry Tigers mauled four Brownie pitchers for a total of 15 hits before a halt could be called. The game lasted 2 hours and 43 minutes.

Rowe Retires

Schoolboy Rowe started for the Tigers, but retired in the seventh in the midst of a three-run uprising. Archie McKain relieved him to complete the inning and Paul Trout was called in the ninth after McKain was lifted for a pinch-hitter.

The Browns took the initiative in the second inning when Walter Judnich singled to left field and Harlond Clift walked. George McQuinn sacrificed and John Berardino was walked intentionally to fill the bases.

Judnich scored on Bob Swift's fly to Hank Greenberg, and pitcher Johnny Whitehead singled over second to bring Clift home.

In Detroit's half of the second Whitehead was injured when he covered first on Bruce Campbell's sizzler to McQuinn. The Campbell-Whitehead collision left Whitehead momentarily unconscious and spike-wounded in the leg. Bob Harris, a former Tiger, replaced him.

Knotted In Fourth

The Browns continued to push ahead with a couple more runs in the third inning, the result of Clift's homer into the left field stands with Judnich on base.

Greenberg's single to center brought home Barney McCosky in the Tiger half of the third for Detroit's first score. Three more runs in the fourth knotted the count.

George Tebbetts opened the attack with a single and went to third on Rowe's double. Dick Bartell flied to Rip Radcliff, scoring Tebbetts, and McCosky doubled to center to score Rowe. Emil Bildilli was called from the bullpen to end that engagement.

Neither team could score again until the seventh rolled around, and again St. Louis took the offensive. Bildilli singled to center, Don Heffner walked and Joe Grace got to first on a bunt that filled the bases.

McKain replaced Rowe on the mound and Bildilli was forced across the plate when Radcliff walked. Heffner and Grace followed with a couple more runs on Judnich's single to right.

Greenberg singled to center to open the Tiger half of the seventh, and Rudy York followed in kind. The Detroit first baseman continued to second, however, when the ball was tossed to third in an unsuccessful effort to catch Greenberg.

Coffman Is Victim

Another former Tiger, Roxie Lawson, was called from the bullpen and he walked Pinky Higgins to fill the bases. Campbell forced Higgins and Greenberg raced home. Tebbetts then forced Campbell while York crossed the plate.

Earl Averill, batting for McKain, singled and Tebbetts took third. Bartell walked and the bases were loaded again, but McCosky fouled to Swift to end the threat.

Trailing by a single run, the Tigers prefaced their eighth inning barrage with walks by Greenberg and York. A third ex-Tiger, George Coffman, was summoned to the mound. Higgins, the first batter he faced, singled to score Greenberg. Campbell followed with a double that scored York. Tebbetts was passed to fill the bases.

Trout hit to Berardino, who threw wide to second, allowing Higgins and Campbell to score and Tebbetts to reach third. Bartell bunted past Coffman, scoring Tebbetts, and McCosky fouled to Swift.

Charley Gehringer singled to left scoring Trout, and when Radcliff's throw hit the runner, Bartell also scored. Greenberg fouled to Swift to end the Brownie debacle.

WHITE SOX ARE HELD TO 1 HIT

Flag-Mad Indians Hang Up Another As 59,068 Fans Watch

Cleveland, Aug. 14, (AP)—Al Smith held Chicago to one hit here tonight as the pennant-mad Cleveland Indians beat the White Sox, 4 to 0, before 59,068 fans. Jimmy Webb's single in the third inning cost the left-hander a perfect game. He fanned four and walked only one in notching his 13th victory against five defeats.

Roy (Stormy) Weatherly, little Cleveland center fielder, was the big gun in the Redskin's attack. In the first inning he singled over second and came home on Lou Boudreau's triple and in the third poled his sixth home run of the season to score Smith, who had walked.

Boudreau tallied the Indians' other run in the first as he raced home after his triple when Webb threw wild on the relay from the outfield.

Only Four Get On

The victory, enabling the Indians to hold their two-game league lead, came at the expense of Edgar Smith.

Only four Chicagoans got on base. Taft Wright walked in the fifth but was erased on a double play. In the third Bob Kennedy was safe on Boudreau's error and raced to third on Webb's hit. However, Mike Kreevich lined out to end the inning. In the ninth Beau Bell made a two-base muff of Webb's fly.

It was the largest night crowd of the major league season. The year's high was 82,437 at Yankee Stadium in New York Memorial Day. Cleveland's record night crowd of 62,000 saw the Indians and Tigers in this city's first contest under the lights in 1939.

YANKS WINNING STREAK HOLDS

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Charley the Red Ruffing kept the Yankee winning streak alive today, humbling the Boston Red Sox with six hits to win 8-3. That was the third straight win over the Sox and ran the Yankee victory string to six.

Three of the hits the Sox got off Ruffing were homers by Lou Finney, Ted Williams and Jimmy Foxx.

The Yankees teed off on Earl Johnson, rookie lefthander, for 10 safeties, massing four of them around three walks in the seventh for a five-run outburst.

The victory was Ruffing's 11th against eight setbacks.

Foxx's blow was his 28th.

The blow off Nelson Potter sent Jimmy Pofahl and George Case across the rubber. Then Ken Chase retired three Athletic batters with dispatch to hang up a seven-hit victory.

Conn-Pastor Bout Is Set Back Again

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Billy Conn-Bob Pastor fight, postponed from last night until September 5 in Madison Square Garden, was set back today one more day by Promoter Mike Jacobs, in order not to conflict with the New York Giants-Eastern All-Stars football game.

PEERLESS ONE TAMES BOSTON

Giants Take First Game 1-0; Bow to Salvo In Second, 6 to 0

Boston, Aug. 14 (AP)—King Carl Hubbell was the peerless one again today—pitching the Giants to a twelve-inning five-hit 1-0 victory in the first game of a doubleheader with the Boston Bees. Manuel Salvo, a Giant castoff, beat his old mates in the second game 6-0 as he scattered eight hits.

The Hubbell victory was replete with memories, for not only was Hubbell's victory reminiscent of the good old days of 1933, but Master Melvin Ott shared Hub's triumph. Mel, who had been benched for not hitting, stepped in as a pinch-hitter in the 12th, singled, was sacrificed to second and sent home on Frank Demaree's timely blow.

Carvel Rowell, the National League's batting leader, got three of the five hits the Bees got off the veteran screwballer.

In the second game, Salvo rose to haunt Bill Terry, the Giant boss, who traded him to the Bees. Salvo scattered eight hits, and chalked up his fourth shutout and fourth straight win.

Lowly Phils Stop Dodgers In Finale; Lose Opener, 6-5

Brooklyn, Aug. 14, (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers had a chance to cut the first place lead of the Cincinnati Reds to a mere four games today, but they blew it by dividing a doubleheader with the lowly Phils.

The Brooks took the first one 6-5, but lost the second 9-6 due to their own ineffectual pitching, plus some heroic hitting by Johnny Rizzo, who blasted out a pair of homers. He also got one in the first game.

That left the Dodgers still a full five games behind the Reds, whose game with Chicago was rained out today.

Bob Bragan of the Phils was the hero of the second game, knocking in three runs for the Phils in the seventh with a double.

Fat Freddie Fitzsimmons, who started but failed to go the distance, won the first game for the Brooks, chalking up his 12th win of the season and the 204 of his big league career.

SCHOOL STARTS SEPTEMBER 4TH

Classes At Mather High Begin Opening Day; Principal On Job

Munising, Aug. 14—The Munising township schools open on Wednesday, September 4. Classes in Wm. G. Mather high school begin that morning. It, therefore, will be necessary for every pupil to be properly enrolled before that date if he wishes to be ready for the first sessions on opening day. Principal R. W. Jackson will be in his office daily until school opens, except Saturday afternoon.

If you have moved here this summer and intend to enter any class between seventh and twelfth grade inclusive see Mr. Jackson soon. Bring your promotion card with you. If you have been regularly promoted from the sixth grade of one of the city or township public schools it will not be necessary for you to report to Mr. Jackson before the opening of school. If you are transferring from any other school to the seventh or eighth grade you should notify the principal, otherwise there will be no schedule arranged for you.

All regularly enrolled pupils submitted their circle of subjects in senior high school prior to the close of school, but some will wish to make changes because of failures last year they did not anticipate. These changes must be made before opening day.

So many have asked for bookkeeping that it will be necessary to restrict membership in the class to those with sufficient units of credit to rank with the tenth grade or higher.

The first day of school will be the busiest day of the year. The principal asks each pupil, therefore, to cooperate by leaving nothing undone until that first day. Mr. Jackson will be glad to talk with any who wish to see him prior to opening day.

Ex-Champion Helen Upset, 6-1, 6-4, By Los Angeles Girl

Manchester, Mass., Aug. 14 (AP)—Unseeded Pauline Betz, a 21-year-old blonde from Los Angeles, accomplished one of the major upsets of the tennis season today when she toppled Helen Jacobs of Los Angeles, U. S. champion from 1932 through 1936 and currently ranked No. 2 nationally, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-4.

By her victory, Miss Betz marched into the semi-finals of the Essex County Club's invitation tournament along with Mary Hardwick, of England, who eliminated Hope Knowles of Philadelphia, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5.

It was a sad day for the ex-champion, who also bowed out of the doubles when Miss Hardwick and Valerie Scott, the top-seeded foreign team, defeated her and Mary Arnold of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Betz, who has won eight of her last 16 tournaments and is ranked eighth nationally, set the job of keeping Miss Jacobs away from the net as her No. 1 objective. She achieved this by consistently hitting the ball hard and accurately to within inches of the baseline and then deftly catching her opponent flat-footed with drop shots which barely floated over the net and which frequently forced Miss Jacobs to give up without even making a chase.

Defending champion Alice Marble of Beverly Hills, Calif., moved a notch closer to her fourth tournament title by beating Helen Pedersen of Stamford, Conn., 6-1, 6-0, while Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, overcame Mary Arnold of Los Angeles, 8-6, 6-4. Both were third round tests.

In doubles, the national championship team of Miss Marble and Sarah Palfrey led the way into the semi-finals with a 6-2, 6-3 triumph over Louise Brough, Los Angeles, and Sissy Madden, Boston.

Pitcher Whitehead Gashed In Collision

Detroit, Aug. 14, (AP)—Johnny Whitehead, St. Louis Browns pitcher, suffered two deep cuts on the right ankle and had to retire from the Browns' game with the Detroit Tigers here today after a collision with Bruce Campbell, Detorit outfielder.

Campbell, up with one out in the second inning, smashed one of Whitehead's pitches to first baseman George McQuinn. Whitehead covered first on the play and was knocked temporarily unconscious when Campbell collided with him. The pitcher was carried from the field, and Bob Harris replaced him on the mound. Campbell was declared out on the play.

Trainers said four or five stitches would be required to close the wounds in Whitehead's ankle.
